AMUNDSEN PLANS TRANS-POLAR TRIP IN LARGER PLANE

Estimates That Flight From Spitzbergen to Alaska Would Cost Approximately $250,000.

WILL LECTURE TO OBTAIN FUNDS

Explorer Declares Recent Journey Was Experimental, the Aircraft Being Unsuitable for Task.

By WILLIAM BIRD, Special Correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. (By Radio to Oslo.)

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, June 22.—Roald Amundsen is already planning a lecture tour to raise funds for a trans-polar aeroplane trip from Spitzbergen to Alaska in the hope of discovering land in an unexplored area. He estimates that this undertaking would cost approximately $250,000. Amundsen said his experience has shown that the planes used on the expedition just finished are unsuitable for such work and that he needs larger type.

He has always regarded the present expedition as experimental, he said, "and I so informed the Norwegian Aero Club and the American Geographical Society before my departure. My estimate intentions have always been trans-polar."

When he returned to King's Bay last night, Amundsen and Ellsworth were dining. The explorer seriously insisted on making a case for me. The Collier Albrecht Seimer had arrived a few hours before Wednesday on Thursday, having taken the three planes brought on the expedition to search Amundsen.

Neither Amundsen nor Ellsworth say the prospect of the inevitable festivities which will greet them on their arrival in Oslo. They were dining, Amundsen entered them by playing the phonograph knowing each one's favorite among the limited selection of music played constantly during the trip before the hop-off.

His Pickings in the Arctic, Says Ellsworth.

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, Saturday, June 20 (Delayed).—The airplane of the Amundsen-Elsworth North Pole expedition which probably has been washed by the ice in which it was fast, and parts of it may even drift westward and be cast somewhere on the Greenland coast.

This is the view taken by the members of the Amundsen party, who made an unexpected return to their starting point here Thursday in their remaining plane.

"We must have shifted about 100 tons of ice in order to prepare a landing suitable for taking off on the second airplane," one of the party said, after describing the state of the first plane, which was caught in the Arctic ice.

Lincoln Ellsworth, Amundsen's companion and financial backer, said the party were conspicuously absent in the region traversed by the party. A further proof that there is no land anywhere near the pole, Ellsworth said, was that during three weeks the explorers saw nothing except one seal, a fox, a few wild geese and a fox which was exhausted near their camp trying to move the second plane.

Ellsworth reached the conclusion that it would be "slim pickings" for anyone who attempted to live off the country in north pole regions.

10-YEAR SENTENCE FOR DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED

Jefferson City Man Appeals Conviction Growing Out of Collision With Parked Machines.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 23.—A sentence of two years in the penitentiary was imposed by a jury in the County Circuit Court late yesterday upon Charles Allison for driving an automobile when intoxicated. This is the heaviest sentence imposed here on such a charge. Allison filed notice of an appeal at the Supreme Court and was released on $2000 bond.

Several weeks ago an automobile driven by Allison collided with two parked machines. Several witnesses testified Allison appeared to be under the influence of liquor at the time. He previously had been arrested on another charge of driving an automobile while he was intoxicated.

Coolidge Off Today for Vacation at Swampscott

He Will Take No Outing Equipment With Him — Due at Massachusetts Town Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 23.—President Coolidge left Washington today to spend the summer in Swampscott, Mass.

Accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and a staff of secretaries and attendants, the President departed from the capital shortly after 1 p. m. Eastern standard time, on a special train. He will reach Swampscott tomorrow morning.

Post-Dispatch Bureau. 20-22 Wyatt Building. WASHINGTON, June 23.—The long grind of the presidential year over, President Coolidge is scheduled to arrive in Swampscott, Mass., tomorrow morning. His train will stop in New York only to change engines, and he is not expected to leave his car. Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will be Secretary and Mrs. Sanders, Col. S. A. Cheney, military aide; Maj. J. F. Coupal, White House physician, and the usual Secret Service men.

The President's vacation outfit carries no knickerbockers or sport clothes it is said. Nor are any golf clubs, fishing tackle or other vacation paraphernalia in his baggage.

The White House servants and dogs have preceded the President to White Court at Swampscott.

An office has been set up for the President in Lynn, Mass., and he will carry on such business there as arises during the summer.

Rudolph Forster, for many years executive clerk at the White House, will again assume vacation charge of the White House. He will direct affairs at this end as in the absence from Washington of former presidents.

John Coolidge, who has just completed his freshman year at Amherst College, will join his parents at Swampscott. Later he will enter the summer training camp at Camp Devens, Mass.

Official and social Washington are not quite certain as to the pronunciation of Swampscott. Some call it "Swamp-scott," and some "Swam-scot," but the President says "Swam-scot."

GOLF FEE ORDINANCE PASSED BY BOARD

Mayor Expected to Sign Bill Providing for $10 Annual Charge.

The Board of Aldermen today, by a 17 to 11 vote, passed the bill imposing a charge of $10 a season on users of the Municipal Golf Links, and $1 a season on users of the tennis courts.

The measure carries an emergency clause, and will go into effect as soon as the Mayor signs it. Mayor Miller has indicated that he favors the measure, by voting for it as a revenue measure when it was considered by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

As soon as the measure becomes effective, outstanding permits, which were issued without charge, will be revoked. To golf players who do not use the links often enough to desire a season permit, a charge of 50 cents a round on the 18-hole course, and one on the 9-hole course, will be made.

$2,000,000 LIGHT ORDINANCES PASSED

Aldermen Approve Appropriation of Bond Issue Funds for Work Urged by Wall.

Three ordinances appropriating a total of $2,000,000 of bond issue funds for street lighting were passed today by the Board of Aldermen. The bills were sponsored by Director of Public Utilities Wall.

The first ordinance provides an appropriation of $400,000 with which a complete new street lighting system will be installed in the congested district bounded by Market street, Franklin avenue, Fourth street and Twelfth boulevard.

Another provides $1,350,000 to install street lighting systems in three districts, two of them in west and north St. Louis and the other on the south side.

The third ordinance appropriates $250,000 to be used in general lighting projects in connection with street improvement jobs. The city has already spent $100,000 from the general revenue in installing the new lights where streets were being remade and $100,000 of the $250,000 appropriated by the ordinance will be used to reimburse the general revenue account. The remaining $150,000 will be employed in similar work in the future.

NEW DOWNTOWN RULES ON PARKING GO INTO EFFECT

Police Adopt Policy of Warning Violators for Few Days Instead of Police Court Summonses.

Center Parking in Twelfth Boulevard Prohibited by Another Rule Becoming Effective on July 1.

Traffic Council rules for the prohibition of parking in the rush hours of morning and evening throughout the downtown congested district, and on certain of the narrow river-front streets during the day became effective today. However, the police have adopted the policy of warning violators for a few days instead of giving them Police Court summonses, unless they persist in violations.

Another rule, which is to become effective a week from tomorrow, July 1, will prohibit all day-time parking in the center of Twelfth boulevard, from Washington avenue to Market street. Exception is made in this rule for the benefit of taxicabs, which will be allowed to park for not more than 15 minutes at a time opposite Hotel Jefferson, though the rules make no provision for taxicab parking at other hotels or elsewhere downtown.

The Twelfth Boulevard Rules. It is the Twelfth boulevard no-parking rule that will reduce the space available for all-day parking and work the greatest inconvenience for persons who drive to work and leave their cars there from morning to evening. Ellsworth, who in the district affected by the new rules parking for more than one hour has been prohibited by ordinance anyway. However, it is estimated that somewhat less than 100 cars can park in the center of Twelfth boulevard. Curb parking there will not be stopped.

Judge Gayer of the Court of Criminal Correction, as is known, holds the rule-making authority of the Traffic Council to be unconstitutional. He hears appeals from Police Court convictions. The Police Judges have been upholding Council rules. Judge Gayer says he will discharge any one convicted in Police Court of violating a Council rule, but if the conviction was for failure to obey a "reasonable direction of a traffic policeman" under another clause of the ordinance, he will consider the circumstances in each case. In many instances, he has said, he will discharge such defendants. It may be possible for him to act on appeals under the new rules by this Tuesday.

The Rules Effective Today.

Details of the rules effective today are:

Parking is prohibited between 7 and 10 a. m. and between 4 and 7 p. m. in the district bounded by the north line of Franklin avenue, the west line of Third street, the south line of Market street and the east line of Twelfth boulevard. Exception is made for commercial vehicles. This area for not more than 15 minutes at a time. Between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. the one-hour parking ordinance governs in this district.

Parking is prohibited in Third street, between St. Charles and Spruce streets, between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m., except that commercial vehicles may park for not more than 15 minutes at a time.

Parking is prohibited on the east side of Main street and east side of Second street, between Washington avenue and Spruce street, between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. Exception is made for commercial vehicles. The one-hour law applies on the west sides of these streets during the day.

Parking is prohibited on the north side of Washington avenue, St. Charles, Vine, Locust, Olive, Pine, Chestnut, Market, Walnut and Elm streets, Clark avenue and Spruce street, between Third street and the levee, between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. Exception is made for commercial vehicles. The one-hour law applies on the south side of these streets during the day.

About 10 extra policemen were detailed to patrol the congested district and enforce the new rules in this way today.

AGREEMENT REACHED ON MAIN POINTS OF TAX REDUCTION PROGRAM

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 23.—An administration tax proclamation to reduce the present tax burden by $300,000,000 has virtually been completed for submission to Congress next fall.

That agreement had been reached on most of the major features of the program was revealed after a conference today between Secretary Mellon and Chairman Green of the House Ways and Means Committee. The two were said to be in accord except on the question of repealing state taxes.

The agreements already arrived at do not reach as far as the basis of tax schedules, but cover in the main the policies to be followed. They will be disclosed later.

The secretary and Green went over carefully the budget figures made public at last night's business meeting of the government and shaped their discussion in the light of President Coolidge's promise of a tax reduction. The Treasury will not present a bill of its own but will submit figures and co-operate with the Ways and Means Committee.

BONES OF MISSING MEMBERS OF STEFFANSON PARTY FOUND

11-Year-Old Mystery Cleared Up by Discovery on Herald Island in Polar Region.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 23.—Another mystery of the Polar region was solved today, when H. A. Snow, big game hunter and explorer, just returned from a two years' photographic expedition to the Arctic regions, announced the discovery of the skeletons of missing members of Vilhjalmur Stefansson's North Pole expedition of 1914 on Herald Island.

Snow's discovery clears up the 11-year-old mystery of the fate of the five members of the crew, one of the two parties in which the expedition was divided who quit the ice-locked and sinking Karluk and started out on the long trek back to civilization. The first party, led by Stefansson, completed the long journey after many hardships.

Told by the ship's doctor, never was heard from, and relief expedition found no trace of it.

Snow declared he came upon the bones while taking pictures on Herald Island, which is about 65 miles from the spot where the Karluk was lost. A half-completed camp attested their attempts to build a shelter. He believes the entire party perished of exposure and starvation a short time after they reached the island.

Identification of the party was made positive, Snow said, by relatives of the men to whom he brought personal effects found on the island near the bodies.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN RIVER AT CAPE GIRARDEAU

Initials on Watch Lead to Belief She Is Dorothy Dolan, Drowned Last Sunday.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., June 23.—The body of a young woman believed to be that of Dorothy Dolan, 18 years old, of St. Louis, who was drowned at Kimmiswick, Mo., Sunday afternoon, was brought ashore just south of the Prison here today. Identification is based upon the initials "D. A. D." found on the back of a silver wrist watch. The young woman had bobbed hair.

At 8 o'clock Capt. B. J. Caragher of the steamer Tennessee Belle, down from St. Louis, sighted the body floating off Cape Rock, a mile north of Cape Girardeau. Members of the crew, in a skiff, brought it to shore.

LAXTON CHARGES DUG UP BY MAN SEEKING HIS JOB

President of G. O. P. Club and Worker in Campaign for Mayor Miller Admits
He Got Affidavits.

MATTER UP BEFORE
ALDERMANIC BODY
Superintendent of Refuse Collections Answers All Accusations Against Him
in Detail at Hearing.

Affidavits charging that Charles L. Laxton, city superintendent of refuse collection, used his position to force negro teamsters to join a union, made them deliver garbage to unauthorized places and otherwise abused his office, were gathered by C. D. Tamme, a candidate for Laxton's job, it developed last night.

The disclosure was made at a hearing by an aldermanic committee on the charges brought against Laxton in affidavits made by negro teamsters formerly employed in the Streets and Sewers Department, to which he is attached. The negroes charge that Laxton did them liquor, forced them to remove Miller buttons and wear Alee buttons in the recent majority primary, made them deliver garbage to county farmers when they should have been sent to the river, forced them to pay an initial fee of $10 to join a union, and lent them money, charging interest. Tamme, who gathered the affidavits, owns a meat market at 2407 Market street.

Under cross-examination by members of the committee, Tamme admitted that he was an applicant for the position held by Laxton, having failed in his application for appointment as City Marshal. He described himself as a Miller worker, president of the Sixth Ward Republican Club. This is an organization independent of the regular ward organization headed by the committee, Robert Scott, a negro.

Laxton Answers Charges. The committee, consisting of Aldermen Baur, Meisinger, Neumann, Watts, Nangle, Wicks and Udell, cross-examined the witnesses, who included several of the negro drivers, two city garbage inspectors and an official and attorney for a livery company, which has the city contract for the reduction of carcasses of dead animals. Concluding Laxton took the stand, recalling and answering, in detail, the various charges enumerated in the affidavits.

The negro drivers were called to the witness stand during the hearing, identified their affidavits and repeated their charges. The committee, however, drew from them uniformly that they were discharged for cause, for drinking, neglect of duty or accidents. The witnesses related that they combined to present their grievances after a meeting with Tamme, who directed them to a notary public.

Testimony of Tamme. Tamme corroborated these statements, asserting that he knew nothing of the merits of the charges. He admitted there were "rumors" that he "might get Laxton's job," but he had heard nothing from his application. He was not sure but that he was disappointed, as he was with respect to the appointment of Marshall.

The committee then read affidavits made by two of the teamsters, disclaiming their previous charges and asserting they were induced to make the charges in order to get Laxton's place for Tamme. Taking the stand, Laxton first described the charges as forcing the men to join the union. This organization is bona fide, he said, to which 90 per cent of all the city drivers and teamsters belong. He said he always advised them joining it, to minimize the possibility of strikes.

As for the charge of exacting interest loans, Laxton explained that the drivers frequently were in need of money between paydays for which he personally advanced loans, but never charged interest. He specifically denied ever selling whiskey to the drivers, one of whom had testified he paid $1.50 for a pint purchased from him, but related that prior to prohibition it was the custom to distribute a bottle of whiskey to the drivers and inspectors at Christmas—the gift of contractors.

As to the accusation that garbage was delivered to county farmers, Laxton cited the city ordinance providing for such distribution, further justifying it on the ground that the shorter haul from West End districts was a saving. Laxton recalled an additional charge that he had hauled cinders on city streets, ordering them dumped in front of property he owned. This, he explained by relating that in dull seasons, when an "empty load" left the city stables, he occasionally authorized the wagons to be used by other divisions of the street department in hauling street materials, but never benefiting his own property.

The other charges he denied specifically.

Shepherd on Stand Makes General Denial

ever give Billy McCintock any position? "I don't know."

Says He Never Gave Germs. "You are charged with administering to Billy McCintock various death-dealing germs. Did you ever give him any germs?" "I never did."

"You are charged in one of those counts with murdering Billy McCintock in a manner and form unknown to the grand jury. Did you in any manner and form murder Billy McCintock?" "I did not."

"Did you ever see the witness, John P. Marchand, who says his real name is McMahon, before this inquest started, and before you were taken in custody?" "I never saw him at the coroner's inquest before being taken into custody, that being the first time."

"Did you ever write a letter to the National University of Science, or to any other institution, making inquiry concerning a bacteriological course, or any course?" asked the defense attorney.

"I never did."

"Did Marchand or anyone else ever call upon you in your office concerning any course at the National University of Science or any other institution of that type?"

Shepherd denied any conversation such as was testified to by Marchand ever took place, or that there was about his office any letterhead containing the "Stoll and Shepherd" name upon which it was testified the letter to the National University of Science was written.

Denies Falsified Story. "Did you ever meet Falmant until the time of the inquest in your lifetime?" "Never," was the reply. "Did you ever have any conversation with him concerning germs, or on any other subject whatsoever?" "No," Shepherd replied.

"Did you ever have any transactions or dealings with him in your life?" asked Stewart. "Never."

"Did you ever meet the witness Rongetti until you were taken in custody?" asked Stewart, concerning Dr. Amante Rongetti, who said Shepherd discussed germs with him. "Never did."

"Did you ever have any conference or deal with him or have anything to do with him in your life?" "No," Shepherd replied, and his direct examination was completed.

Crowe's Cross-Examination. Cross-examination brought out that Shepherd is "past 45," was born at Anderson, Ind., and was a member of the common schools of Johnson County, Ind., and the high schools of Indianapolis.

"And did you study chemistry?" asked Prosecutor Crowe. "The high school course," answered the defendant, adding that he later took a special course under a high school professor.

"And your father ran a drug store, didn't he?" "My stepfather," admitted Shepherd.

had married Miss Julie Graff, although sick at that time.

Put Into Drug Business. "When you recovered, your brother took you into the drug store that he was running?" asked Crowe.

"Her father put us both in the business," was the reply, that employment continuing five years. Crowe, by a series of questions, brought out anew Shepherd's continued employment by or in association with relatives.

"How long did that drug store continue?" "I sold it out in 1907, five years after we started it, I think."

"And in the meantime your brother-in-law had died?" "My brother-in-law had died." "Then came a trip to Texas on a little visit."

"I was not working. I was looking for a location," explained the defendant.

After several weeks he came to Chicago and later went to Indianapolis for a few weeks, living with his mother. Then came the return to Chicago and the association with the McCintocks.

"I visited for practically a month with Mrs. McCintock," said Shepherd. He paid no board and was not employed. A brief trip to Indianapolis intervened, and then came the final return to Chicago and life with the McCintocks. For a year the Shepherds paid Mrs. McCintock board of $50 a month. Shepherd said he did not recall that he ever had made that statement previously to anyone except his lawyers.

His Life With McCintocks. "Now, were you doing anything around the McCintock home at that time?" "Not particularly around the home, no."

He drove Mrs. McCintock's automobile "merely as a matter of accommodation."

"Did you take care of little Billy?" "While I was at home at the house, I did."

"Did you regard that as a part of your duty or did you just do that out of the goodness of your heart?" "I did that as a part of my duty. I was requested to do so."

In November of 1918, Shepherd went to Texas at the request of Mrs. McCintock in regard to land she and Billy owned.

Negotiations for a position was abandoned; Shepherd replied in answering a question by Crowe, "want you to take the job and have to leave and take your wife along with you?"

"The first time you got any employment from Mrs. McCintock was the time she employed you to go to Texas?" "As I recall."

"Did you do that where very many?" "As I recall, yes."

Shepherd in a Probate Court hearing were termed "friendly duties."

This questioning developed a little by-play between the attorneys. Stewart objected when Crowe asked questions regarding testimony Shepherd gave in the Probate Court.

"This is not contradictory of anything he said here and to go over every question and answer made some years ago," started Stewart.

"I think it is highly proper if your honor please," said Crowe. "He says that during this period..."

"Oh, let him go ahead; go ahead and make it snappy," put in W. O'Brien, Stewart's partner.

Spanking One of Duties. One of Shepherd's duties, according to the old testimony, was to spank Billy.

"That was only one of your many duties?" "Possibly so, I don't recall."

"All these matters that were called duties were merely courtesies that you were extending your hands?" asked Crowe, after getting Shepherd's testimony of years ago. The defense objected to the Prosecutor calling Mrs. McCintock a "landlady," and was sustained.

Wanted Mrs. Shepherd There. "And wasn't that testimony asked you: 'You drove her around in the automobile?'" "Yes. My time was taken up for whatever she wanted me to do, whatever it might be. She simply made the proposition to me to keep me, not because she wanted me to stay so much, but she wanted my wife with her, and this work was simply to keep me from taking this other position until I found another situation."

During the Texas trip Shepherd said he received $200 a month from Mrs. McCintock, and after his return to Chicago no more board was paid Mrs. McCintock. Shepherd did not recall an item of $270 received, as mentioned in the Probate Court hearing. A few months later he made a second trip to Texas for Mrs. McCintock.

Defendant's various employment during 1911 and 1912 was mentioned, and then the Prosecutor asked: "During that period after Mrs. McCintock died you didn't pay any board or room rent?" "No."

"Your board and room were furnished by the McCintock estate?" "It was."

"It has been furnished up until the present time?" "Up until Billy reached his majority."

"You never paid any board after he reached majority, did you?" "No."

Drew Up Youth's Will. "You drew up Billy's will, did you not?" Shepherd was asked and replied in the affirmative, adding he drew it from a memorandum sent by the youth.

"As a lawyer, do you consider it good practice for a person who occupies a fiduciary relation to a boy to act as his attorney and draw a will in which you are the principal beneficiary?" "I don't."

"And it is unethical?" "To some extent, yes."

"Now when you drew up this will Billy had just become 21?" "Yes."

Arrangements for Billy's marriage to Miss Isabelle Pope were the subject of the next dozen questions.

Shepherd admitted that at that time his total estate consisted of two small parcels of land which he owned a farm in Kansas.

Mrs. Shepherd also owned some mortgages and some stock and I have—I forgot to mention that I have stock in two companies, small amounts," added the witness.

Shepherd denied he told a man named Watt he intended to build an estate in Florida and go and live there, as admitted he told Miss Estelle Gehling, a nurse, that he was going to try to get Billy to give him a piece of property here to put an office building on.

"Did you ask Billy to give it to you?" "No."

"But that was your intention?" "Yes."

In concluding the cross-examination of Shepherd, after the noon recess, Crowe asked only a few questions regarding the property Shepherd had indicated he wanted his foster-son to give him, and about a letter Shepherd wrote to Miss Estelle Gehling, a young nurse. In them, however, the Prosecutor heavily stressed the State's claim of a motive for the alleged murder.

He brought out that Billy had directed the Northern Trust Co. to sell the house, the place, the McCintock home, and then read from the letter to the girl:

"Things have come along like a cyclone, since seeing you at noon. Cannot go into all of the details. The deal came to a head and broke me flat; absolutely bankrupt. I hope for the future. I think that I will close my office here and drift away from it all."

Says It Was a Lie. "What was that deal?" asked Crowe.

"There was none, especially," replied Shepherd.

"It was a lie, was it?" "That was," replied Shepherd, and the Prosecutor's "that's all" ended the cross-examination.

Unrestrained examination, Shepherd said he had advised Billy to sell the house, the place, the McCintock home, and then read from the letter to the girl:

"Things have come along like a cyclone, since seeing you at noon. Cannot go into all of the details. The deal came to a head and broke me flat; absolutely bankrupt. I hope for the future. I think that I will close my office here and drift away from it all."

"What was that deal?" asked Crowe.

"There was none, especially," replied Shepherd.

"It was a lie, was it?" "That was," replied Shepherd, and the Prosecutor's "that's all" ended the cross-examination.

Former Heir Who Is Dead, First Wife

JESSE REED. D. O. CASWELL.

Widow of Cleveland Millionaire Disinherited Him After Wedding to "Follies" Girl.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 23.—Daniel O. ("Dapper Dan") Caswell, 25 years old, disinherited heir of the late O. Caswell, Cleveland millionaire, died with no friends or relatives near last night in St. Luke's hospital, where he was taken a month ago suffering from pneumonia—complicated later by typhoid fever.

"Dapper Dan" or "Dashing Dan," as he was known along Broadway, first came into the limelight when he married Jesse Reed of the "Ziegfeld Follies" in November, 1921, after a courtship of 14 hours. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Caswell of French Lick, Ind., promptly disinherited him.

Two months later, Caswell was sued for divorce. His wife charged cruelty, non-support and drunkenness, and alleged he borrowed money from her maid, which he refused to repay. He defied this suit, but his wife obtained separation and alimony. In Cleveland he later obtained a divorce on the grounds of gross neglect.

Six months later he married June Castleton, a friend of his former wife and a former member of the "Follies."

The couple left New York for "somewhere on Long Island" and rumors were soon circulated that Caswell and his mother were reconciled. Until March 24, this year, nothing was heard of the couple. Then it was announced by the second Mrs. Caswell they had agreed to a "nice friendly divorce."

He was then, she said, in a sanitarium near the city.

URGES CITIZENS TO TAKE MORE INTEREST IN GOVERNMENT

Robert J. Kratky Says There Should Be More Discussion of Public Affairs.

The persistent problem confronting all patriotic Government officials is "How can I persuade the citizens to take a more active interest in the affairs of Government?" Robert J. Kratky, attorney, and campaign manager for Mayor Miller, declared at a luncheon of the Scottish Rite Club at the American Hotel today.

Such interest can be stimulated, he said, by study and reflection on the part of citizens, and he urged a greater reading of the Congressional Record and the City Journal.

He asserted the way to arouse the people's interest is to publicly discuss their problems.

"President Roosevelt did this admirably," said the speaker, "as did Presidents Wilson and Harding. One of the most notable achievements of President Wilson's incumbency was the moulding of public sentiment on the question of our entry into the World War. President Coolidge is taking the people more into his confidence of late, with wonderful results. There should be more discussion of public affairs by public officials."

EVIDENCE OF THIRD ATTEMPTED JAIL BREAK BY FRICKER

Sheriff Reveals That Steel Bar Separating Cell Tier From Runway Was Sawed.

A steel bar separating a cell tier from an outer runway of the cell of Emil Fricker, formerly wealthy Highland, Ill., dairy farmer who is under sentence of death for the murder of Emil Nungesser, was sawed enough to permit easy escape of Fricker and several other prisoners when it was discovered recently by Sheriff Diemling.

Yesterday Sheriff Diemling revealed what he believes was an attempted jail delivery after the bars had been welded securely. He stated that it was the third time he had discovered evidence of an attempted jail break by Fricker.

ROBBERS BLOW BANK VAMPIRE SHOOT UP WISCONSIN Cash and Securities Totaling $10,000 Obtained at Shulburg.

By the Associated Press.
SHULBURG, Wis., June 23.—Robbers entered this town at 11 a. m. today, wrecked the First National Bank and carried off cash and securities valued at total around $10,000, or "shooting up" the town.

The first indication of the people had that a muffled explosion as the first of eight shots was fired into the bank building. The first shot was fired by several men at regular intervals, which virtually wrecked the interior of the bank.

Just after the first explosion, a carload of South Dakota men, whose names were not known, drove into town. One of the her lookouts ordered the driver to stop, but he neglected to obey the result that the three were shot and killed.

The shooting aroused those in the hotel adjacent to the bank who looked out of windows and immediately as a volley of shots crashed into the windows and shattered their heads.

The robbers had cut all telephone lines, an emergency telephone which connected Shulburg with Darlington and Louis.

Miss Mary Kane, the local telephone operator, finding all communication cut, jumped into a taxicab and drove to Darlington to advise the sheriff. The robbers departed after working for an hour and had, and had before the Sheriff's posse arrived.

Shocked at Husband's Death.
By the Associated Press.
WINONA, Minn., June 23.—When Mrs. Martin Tompkins was told late Monday that her husband had died from heat prostration, died from the shock.

Reached for Pistol. McGovern died with his hand on a pistol in an effort to save the money entrusted to him to carry to bank. He reached for his pistol when he heard a command to open up the money, a command reported with a revolver in a robbery.

The policeman fired without a word the policeman's motion. McGovern was the fifth Chicago policeman in 16 days to fall in the line of duty before the fire of gun.

That it was a cold, unprovoked murder, lacking the slightest excuse, was the declaration of McGovern.

WALL ADVOCATES METERING OF WATER

Cites Figures Indicating Change Might Lower Rate to Residences.

Use of meters to measure water taken by all consumers in the city is advocated by Director of Public Utilities Wall, in his report for the last fiscal year, when he was serving as Water Commissioner. Figures his report quotes indicate that this might lower the cost to residence consumers. He declared it would abolish unwarranted rate concessions to manufacturers and other favored classes of users. The city now supplies 113,000,000 gallons of water daily, compared with 76,000,000 when he became commissioner in February, 1911, Director Wall stated. There is a slow but steady gain in the daily consumption, he pointed out, adding: "It is now only a question of months until the supply of water becomes inadequate to meet the demand."

Hard to Eliminate Waste.
It is difficult to bring about a reduction of the consumption, through eliminating waste, until the task of building the new Missouri River waterworks is completed, and it begins to help furnish the water supply, late in 1927 or early in 1928, the report went on. "After that time," the report stated, "the question of universal metering should be taken up for the establishment of equitable rates, with no favored consumers. This policy will be almost imperative when water is furnished to communities outside the present city limits, as is bound to occur, sooner or later."

Reasons for Metering.
"The city shouldn't be guilty in the twentieth century of the folly of continuing to supply water at flat rates when the experience of other cities and the expert opinion of engineers and waterworks operators all point to the abandonment of such a policy. The adoption of universal metering just after the new works are put in service will result in the gradual reduction of the daily per capita consumption of water, the postponement of additions to new plant and a substantial extension of the period in which the waterworks as a whole will be capable of supplying the city."

"Installation of meters should be spread over a five-year period, so that the expense can be met from waterworks revenue, and to give ample time for adjustment of rates. In the end there should be practically the same rate per 100 cubic feet for all consumers, the only difference being a slight increase in the service charge to small consumers, to cover the extra cost of reading meters, billing, etc."

Wasteful Use of Water.
"The city is one of the most wasteful of water users in its public institutions and buildings, the parks, street sprinkling, construction work and the Fire Department. The general attitude of city departments in the use of water is one of utter disregard of all principles of economy and efficiency, coupled with a total lack of consideration for the efforts of the Water Division to conserve the facilities of the waterworks and its finances."

Pointing out that an effort was made in the last fiscal year to reduce expenses, Director Wall reported that the expenses amounted to $1,645,565, compared with $1,831,557 the year before. However, 325,000,000 gallons more water was pumped last year than the year before, three and one-half more miles of pipe was laid, salaries and wages amounted to $140,000 more, and incidental work due to the Missouri River plant work added considerably to the duties of many employees. "With a very considerable increase of the amount of work done during the year, there was only a trifling increase in the net expense," the Director reported. "This, I believe, is the true test of efficiency, and, considering the tendency to increased costs of all kinds, reflects credit on the engineers and other employees in responsible charge of the various sections and branches of the Water Division. There is still room for more improvement, as we gain clearer comprehension of the problems."

Warning to seekers of beauty

When your complexion is at stake, use a soap made solely to foster good complexions

PALMOLIVE Soap is made for ONE purpose only . . . to foster good complexions. It is not intended for laundry work. Not even for fine fabrics. It is a skin soap alone. To protect your skin, that is the only kind of soap that you should use.

In old days, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." For soaps were too harsh. Then Palmolive came. A soap made of cosmetic oils. A soap made to be used freely, lavishly on the skin.

Women tried it, and were amazed. They told others—and better complexions resulted. Palmolive soon became the leading toilet soap of the world. In France, home of cosmetics, it became a leader. French women largely discarded French soaps for Palmolive. Today Palmolive Soap is one of the two largest selling toilet soaps in France.

That is because Palmolive is a unique creation, based on 60 years of soap study. A soap made solely to guard your youthful charm.

But on your skin, don't expect the cosmetic results of Palmolive from any soap claimed to be good for all purposes . . . No "jack-of-all-trades" soap should be used for your complexion.

Don't let anyone mislead you into believing that ordinary toilet soaps, or cleansing soaps, will bring you Palmolive results. They won't—no ordinary soap can.

There are soaps at 25 cents and over, which approach Palmolive in results. But Palmolive sells for 10 cents . . . no more than ordinary soaps. Enormous production brings you this modest cost.

Wash, launder, cleanse with any soap you wish. But when beauty is at stake, take care. Use Palmolive, a soap you know is safe to use. It is nature's formula to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion."

FOR GERMS

Soaps to "destroy" germs should be used only by advice of a physician. All soaps "remove" germs to a certain degree. Palmolive will "remove" germs as well as any soap safe for toilet use.

The real difference in soaps is in their action on your skin. Some are too harsh, others crudely blended. Palmolive Soap is a unique creation, a blend of rare cosmetic oils; a soap made for one purpose only, to foster good complexions. Don't expect Palmolive complexion results from any strong "medicated" soap, from any "jack-of-all-trades" soap, from any soap claiming alike for fabric washing and the skin.

Note carefully
the name and wrapper.
Palmolive is never sold unwrapped.

PESKY BED BUGS

Doctors declare that bedbugs and other vermin are the most to be feared means of spreading such diseases as consumption, spinal meningitis and other infectious troubles. There is no disagree in getting bedbugs in your home, because that can't be avoided, but it is a disgrace to permit them to remain and thrive when it is so easy to get rid of them with the new chemical compound, P.D.Q., which actually puts an end to these pesky devils.

A MILLION BEDBUGS
A 33-cent package of this golden chemical will make a quart of a mixture that is so deadly to bedbugs that it would kill a million of them if you could get that many together. If they were as big as your hand it would sweep them just as well. And not only the live ones, but the future generation as well, because once it hits the eggs they are gone.

CUT THIS OUT
Your druggist has P.D.Q. (Pesky Devil's Quicker) and will be glad to furnish it for 35 cents. One 33-cent package makes a quart of the mixture and is equal to a barrel of old-fashioned bug-killer. Some druggists may try to sell you something else. Don't accept a substitute. If your druggist hasn't P.D.Q., send us your name and 35 cents and we will send you a package airtight to your address.

Will Not Damage Goods
P.D.Q. will not injure delicate fabrics, clothing, carpets, furniture, bedding, wall paper or woodwork. In fact, it is often used as a deodorizer and disinfectant.

KILLS FLEAS ON DOGS

If you have a pet dog who is infested with fleas take a little P.D.Q. mixture in your hand and rub into the fur. Then watch the fleas leap the dog. They will be dead before King Solomon before they hit the floor.

MOTHS

Very simple to rid these pests from fur or clothing is to follow the directions on each package. Impossible for moths to exist with the proper use of P.D.Q. A treatment on garments will prevent moths for two years.

FOR ANTS AND COCKROACHES

The ants and cockroaches stand just as good a chance of surviving a treatment of P.D.Q. as a snowball in a justly famed heat resort. It sweeps them and their eggs with a wallow that puts their whole generation out of business.

P.D.Q. IN LIQUID FORM

P.D.Q. is marketed in sealed bottles, double strength liquid form, with patent sprout free. P.D.Q. Liquid can be diluted to make a quart or it can be used pure. P.D.Q. is marketed in two-style packages. Liquid form 50c, ready for use, and P.D.Q. Dry form, 35c. Each package makes one quart. Sold by Jorden & Dolph Drug Store, Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.

Held at City Hospital
After Quarrel Tells Police
"He Was Only Fooling."

Bert Cunningham, 50 years old, chemist, returned to his home at 2322A South Eleventh street, about 1 o'clock this morning, and engaged in a quarrel with his wife, who is now held a prisoner at the City Hospital, charged with attempting to asphyxiate his wife by forcing her head into the oven of the kitchen gas range, to which he had opened the jets.

"I was only fooling," the husband explained. "I had been drinking home brew, but I wasn't drunk. The argument started when my wife told me she hadn't put the money in the bank as she supposed to."

Mr. Cunningham's version was that the husband came home "drunk," and threatened to kill her. She said he went into the kitchen and opened four of the gas jets to the range, and then pushed her out of bed and to the oven, attempting to force her head into the oven. The noise awakened their son, Rolla, 19 years old, who was asleep in another room, and he went to the struggling couple, and tried to separate them.

The son left the house and returned a few minutes later with a policeman, who reported finding the jets open and the couple quarreling in bed. He arrested the husband and took him to the City Hospital.

DEALER TO TEST POLICE RIGHT TO BAR OBSCENE LITERATURE

William Molasky, head of the Pierce Building News Co., general agent, distributor and dealer in many periodicals, invited the police to test his right to sell literature and pictures, to test the police authority to stop the sale of these things.

This action is a result of the recently begun police campaign against salacious publications. Police, acting under orders, have raid retail dealers on their beats and the display of a group of magazines held to be objectionable by the police must stop. Molasky is a distributor of some of these publications.

Molasky asked Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer to issue the warrant against him. He furnished a list of the magazines. A. J. Bender, who accompanied the prosecutor to the office, said: "We want to learn whether these magazines are obscene and if for public reading. If the police thinks they are, we don't want to handle them. We contend the police have no right to order suppression until someone has been convicted for handling them."

Practically all these magazines are submitted to the Postoffice Department at Washington for approval before being mailed.

WOMEN! USE LEMON TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach skin white is to mix the juice of lemons with three ounces of hard white, which any drug-gist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon cream into the face, neck, arms and hands. It cannot irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that rosy, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix the remarkable lotion yourself. It cannot be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

SEE RAINIER PARK ON WESTERN TRIP

John Muir called it "a perfect flower sylvan—Miles of glaciers, the Northern Pacific will make your reservations."

Rainier National Park "Where snows and glaciers meet, where the flower sylvan—Miles of glaciers, the Northern Pacific will make your reservations."

There are 48 square miles of glaciers on the slopes of Mount Rainier, called Mount Tacoma, and the variety of wild flowers in the Rainier garden—a flower for every day in the year. Natural parks great trees in all shades of green on the mountain's lower slopes.

Include Rainier National Park in your summer vacation trip to Pacific Northwest. It is 42 miles from Tacoma and 57 from Seattle, easily reached from either city by auto or train.

Mountain climbing and saddle riding are favorite sports. From Paradise Inn, within the Park, you can make inspiring excursions to the snow fields and the natural gardens.

From St. Louis the round trip is $81.50.

19-Year-Old Woman Says She Planned Holdup for Funds to Get Clothes.

Through the bars of her cell in the Mounted Police Station today, Mrs. Ethel Pennington, 19-year-old widow, related how she and a young man friend had attempted to rob her landlady two weeks ago so she might have funds for pretty clothes. Her confessed accomplice, Raymond McLafferty, 20 years old, occupies a cell at the same station. He calls her "Bobby." In recognition of her straight black hair, which is bobbed. She has dimples and gray eyes.

"I used to live at Stoutville, Mo., but after my husband died, three years ago, I couldn't get along with my folks, and I came to St. Louis," Mrs. Pennington said. "I had some pretty clothes then, but the boy friend I was going with at that time got peeved and went away with them."

"I couldn't get a good job without a Ray, sympathized with me and I told him I could get some money by sticking up Mrs. May Cook, who runs a rooming house at 1529 Chouteau avenue, where I stayed for a while. So we drove there in a taxicab."

"Well, we drank a can of beer there and then Mrs. Cook went after another can. When she got back, Ray held her up with a revolver and I searched every drawer in the house, but couldn't find any money. Mrs. Cook offered me $2, but that wasn't enough to buy anything with, so we beat it empty-handed."

"If Ray gets 10 years for that job, I want 10 years, too. I planned the whole thing, and he did what I told him to."

Mrs. Pennington said she has been employed as a domestic and living at 2725 Bennett Court lately. McLafferty gave his home address as 6724 Marquette avenue.

"DOLLAR BILL" SAYS

"Not Specials, But Bargains Every Day"

It is not necessary for us to offer specials for one day, or week, or month, because we clean plain wool garments EVERY DAY for a dollar. Our plant equipment is such that we are able to take care of a tremendous volume of business without its affecting either the quality of our work or the promptness of our service, as might be the case if we were to advertise occasional specials. We are organized to clean plain wool garments for a dollar, and we have the employees, the plant equipment and the delivery trucks to do it—and to do it at a reasonable profit.

We would like to prove to you that although we do clean plain wool garments for a dollar, we clean them as perfectly as if you were to pay more.

It is not necessary for us to offer specials for one day, or week, or month, because we clean plain wool garments EVERY DAY for a dollar. Our plant equipment is such that we are able to take care of a tremendous volume of quality of our work or the promptness of our service, as might be the case if we were to offer specials. We are organized to clean for a dollar, and we have the plant, the delivery trucks to do it—and to do it at a reasonable price to you that although we do clean plain wool for a dollar, we clean them as perfectly as if you were to pay more.

PATRONAGE UP TO PARTY LEADERS, WILLIAMS SAYS

"When Party Councils Speak, I Will Have Spoken," Senator Tells Organization Chiefs.

PLEDGE REVIVES DROOPING SPIRITS

Leaders Have Been Having Trouble Seeing Gov. Baker and Mayor Miller Makes Own Selections.

Republican organization leaders throughout the State listened with approval yesterday at a conference here while United States Senator George H. Williams, appointed by Gov. Baker recently to succeed the late Senator Spencer, told them he expected to dispense Federal patronage only through the party organization and did not regard appointments as a personal prerogative.

This stand of the new Senator revived the drooping spirits of some of the organization leaders who had found great difficulty in obtaining audiences with Gov. Baker when he was making his appointments. Mayor Miller carried the matter even further in St. Louis and has not only ignored the organization here but has openly indicated he will not consult it.

"No Personal Choice." "I do not understand that I have any personal prerogatives with respect to recommendations for Federal appointments, but I do understand that they will be determined in party councils, and when the party has spoken I will have spoken," Senator Williams said.

The meeting was attended by W. F. Phares, chairman of the Republican State Committee; Mrs. Grace Semple Burlington, national Republican committeewoman from Missouri; Mrs. Sylvester Wells, Kansas City, a member of the Executive Committee of the State Committee; William A. McAtee, Springfield, a member of the Executive Committee of the State Committee; R. R. Brewster, Kansas City, Republican nominee for the United States Senate in 1922; Congressman C. C. Ellis, Kansas City, Fifth District; J. J. McGowan, Lincoln, Fifteenth District; L. C. Dyer, St. Louis, Twelfth District, and Charles E. Kieffer, Perryville, Thirteenth District.

Missouri's seven Republican Congressmen were invited, as were Gov. Baker, former Gov. Hyde and National Committeeman Dr. E. B. Clements. The latter three and three of the Congressmen were unable to attend.

The conference decided that appointments in districts where Republican Congressmen hold office will be recommended by the Congressmen after consultation with the local organization. Positions of consequence will be filled after the State and local party organizations have made recommendations.

An "Organization Man." It is expected that Senator Williams' first opportunity to dispense patronage will occur in Kansas City where District Attorney C. O. Madison's term has expired. There are few Federal positions open at this time, however, and most of those in St. Louis run beyond the time of Senator Williams' present term, which runs until November of 1928.

Senator Williams has been a member of the State Republican organization for years and is a former member of the Republican City Committee here. He has always been an "organization man" and his latest stand indicates that he has not altered his ideas.

USE CANTHROX Shampoo

TODAY'S BEAUTY AID

You can bring out the beauty of your hair to its very best advantage by washing it with CANTHROX, a very simple, inexpensive shampoo, which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dandruff, dirt and excess oil, leaving a wonderfully clean, wholesome feeling. After its use, you will find that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is never streaked in appearance and is always bright, soft and fluffy; so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. Just use a teaspoonful of canthrox, which you can get from any good druggist, dissolve it in a cup of hot water; this makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head.—Advertisement.

Killed by High-Tension Wire.
Dwight Dowling, 15 years old, was instantly killed here yesterday when working on electric light wires on a pole. He leaned against a high-tension wire and 2300 volts of electricity passed through his body. John Smith, a fellow workman, was severely burned when he cut the wire that held Dowling. Dowling's wife and three children survive.

WANTED BODY DRESSED IN HIS WORK CLOTHES

Carpenter's Request in Will Not to Be Carried Out by Sons at Cremation.

A request that his body be dressed in "a soft blue shirt and overalls" before cremation, contained in the will of George F. Bantam, 41 years old, a widower, of 2421 Eads avenue, who died Saturday, will not be carried out.

As a carpenter and cabinet maker, Bantam wore a blue shirt and overalls at his work. His sons say he never appeared after death, and the will's unusual provision and the wife's unusual provision surprised them. The undertaker had already dressed the body in the regulation dark suit and white shirt before the will was opened, and it was considered too late to make a change.

The will, filed yesterday in Probate Court, gave $1 each to two children, Oscar Bantam and Mrs. Martha Gibson, and $100 to another son, Albert Bantam. Fred, a third son, is to share his father's tools with Albert. What is left of insurance money, after payment of funeral expenses, is given to Mrs. Orpha Vandevander, who is asked to be housekeeper for Fred as long as needed. Fred is named executor. The will is dated March 24, 1924.

The cremation is scheduled for 2 p. m. today at the Missouri Crematory.

EARLY MORNING FIRE FORCES FAMILY FROM APARTMENT

Origin of Blaze in Jewelry Store at 1504 Franklin Avenue
Is Undetermined.

The family of Charles Weisblut was forced to flee from their third-floor apartment at 1504 Franklin avenue, early today by fire, discovered in the jewelry store of Louis Gaskin, occupying the first floor. The blaze was discovered by Patrolman Breuter of Carr Street District, who aroused the Weisblut family and turned in a fire alarm. Damage to the building was estimated at $500. No estimate of the damage to Gaskin's stock, valued at $6000, was made. The origin of the fire was not determined. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

DR. ENLOE REAPPOINTED STATE PRISON DIRECTOR

Reverted to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, June 23.—Dr. Cortez P. Enloe of Jefferson City has been reappointed director of State penal institutions by Gov. Lister. His term and those of his four colleagues on the board expired this month, they having been appointed by the Governor to fill the unexpired terms of appointees of former Gov. Hyde, who resigned. Dr. Enloe's new term is until June 19, 1937.

The Governor has not indicated whether he will reappoint the other board members, but it is believed that he will.

Emerson of Fatal Shooting.
William Johnson, a negro of 1423 Central avenue, East St. Louis, was freed by a coroner's jury yesterday in the inquest into the death of James Carter, another negro of 1524 Bond street, whom Johnson shot Sunday night. Carter died at St. Mary's Hospital at 2 a. m. yesterday. Johnson pleaded self-defense, saying he and his wife were having an argument when Carter, his wife's brother, started to attack him.

Situation.

PARIS, June 23.—Today's session of the Chamber of Deputies, considering the Moroccan question, broke up in a free-for-all fight when the white-haired Col. Picot, deputy of the Right bloc, rushed to the rostrum and slugged the communist Deputy Doriot squarely in the face as the latter was attacking the French Government. Deputy Doriot staggered, but brushed his assailant. Communists from the Left and Nationalists from the Right came climbing up the steps of the rostrum until 25 Deputies were there milling around, wrestling and hitting each other wildly.

A turmoil of Deputies then surged in the open space below the rostrum and it was 10 minutes before the ushers could break up the various fights and the President of the Chamber, Herriot, could adjourn the session.

One aged and bald-headed usher, clipped on the chin by a vigorous swing, fell between Premier Painleve and Foreign Minister Briand, who watched the fight with folded arms.

Before the disturbances started, Premier Painleve had commenced an address to the Chamber upon the Moroccan situation. He said France must present a solid front in Morocco.

When the general fight extended into the space before the speaker's stand, former Ministers Franklin-Bouillon and Lucien Dlon attempted to separate the combatants. The peace makers received several hard knocks and suddenly abandoning the methods of peace they began to strike out themselves both to the right and left. M. Franklin-Bouillon doing especially effective fist work.

When President Herriot finally got the chamber cleared there were a dozen bloody noses and many eyes that were beginning to turn black among the deputies.

FORMER CITY MARSHAL HUBELE INDORSED FOR OIL INSPECTOR

City Committee Acts on Successor to Hyde Appointee, Slated for Federal Job.

The Republican City Central Committee yesterday indorsed former City Marshal William Hubele, committeeman from the Seventh Ward, for State Oil Inspector, to succeed Asa G. Butler, an appointee of former Gov. Hyde, whose term expires in August.

Hubele will go to Jefferson City some time this week to confer with Gov. Baker.

Butler is slated for appointment as United States Marshal at Kansas City and if Gov. Baker accepts the recommendation of the St. Louis committee, Hubele's appointment probably will await Butler's Federal appointment.

PART TWO.

WAY HAS BEEN PAVED FOR ANOTHER REDUC IN TAXES, PRESIDENT

Addressing Government Officials Forecasts Surplus and Admonishes to Practice Economy.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Estimating that the end of the current year (June 30) will find the Federal Government with a Treasury surplus of $200,000,000 and for the next fiscal year the surplus will reach $250,000,000, President Coolidge, in a speech here last night, declared that the way had been paved for a further cut in taxes.

He added a pledge that he would recommend a reduction to Congress in his next annual budget message.

The President's optimistic diagnosis of the nation's financial health was given in an address to the business organization of the Government, which comprises the heads of departments and bureaus and the other chief spending officers of government. Upon the entire Federal personnel the President laid the duty of conducting a campaign of relentless economy in the preparation of estimates for 1937.

"You must not, cannot fail," he said.

Encroachment on State Fields. An address to the President, the President deplored the encroachment of the Federal Government upon fields belonging to the states.

"Material reduction of expenses must be made," he said, if the Federal Government could limit its spending to its "legitimate obligations and functions." Even more important than the monetary saving would be the salutary effect upon the fabric of our external form of government which tends to be gradually weakened and undermined by this encroachment.

"The cure for this," the President continued, "is not in our hands. It lies with the people. It will come when they realize the necessity of State assumption of State responsibility. It will come when they realize that the laws under which the Federal Government lends out contributions to the states is placing upon them a considerable burden of taxation—Federal taxation in the first instance to raise the money which the Government donates to the States, and State taxation in the second instance to meet the extravagance of State expenditures which are repaid by the Federal donations."

The theme of the President's address was the necessity of "Constructive Economy" to the end that the nation may be rescued from the onerous burden of the Federal Government's debt.

"Federal tax returns be aided by lightening of tax burden, but a beneficent indirect effect would be spread through the entire people."

"Restriction on Freedom." The taking of contributions from the people to make up the "enormous" sum of $10,000,000 daily required to operate the Federal Government was declared by the President to be "nothing more or less than a restriction upon the freedom of the people."

"This money has to be earned," he emphasized. "Those who have earned it, instead of being able to retain it for their own benefit, must necessarily turn it over to the Government."

The President developed his points with a wealth of epigrammatic sentences—a characteristic mode of expression. The aim of his policy was to "Let those who earn money keep more of it for themselves and give less of it to the Government." This meant "Restoring our country to the people of our country." He believed that the policy would re-endow the people not only with increased material wealth but with increased spiritual values.

"It can not be too often emphasized," the President said, "the property of this country belongs to the people of this country. The Government cannot touch a cent of it for a public purpose. Government extravagance is not only contrary to the whole teaching of the fundamental conceptions and the very genius of American institutions. It is the high privilege of the people of this country to spend their own money."

Good in Budget System. In extolling the budget system, the President pointed out that the years of its operation had shown a reduction of annual expenditures amounting to $2,081,000,000, while $3,428,000,000 had been paid off the public debt. These economies had brought the annual expenditures down to $3,035,000,000 for the current fiscal year and the total of the public debt to $20,000,000,000. He doubted whether history could show any equal record of retrenchment.

Glancing at a criticism of the economy drive, the President said he was unable to see how tax reduction could hurt business. He pointed out, on the contrary, that each year in taxes had been followed by a revival of business.

"If the Government takes less," he summed up, "it can take more."

Under the policy of funding and general of the war debt, that in the last reduction had amounted to $100,000,000 and the just ending would be a further slash of $100,000,000 interest for this year to $120,000,000 less in 1921. This he called direct saving for everyone.

Soundness of the debt policy, the President strengthened, with Liberty bonds had and the interest on the war debt had declined.

"There can be no effort for economy in the public service," the President said, "dedicated, it is an effort to save the lives of the people. There can be no effort for economy in the public service, when the time is approaching when the government could be urged that the nation of the Government is accompanied by out of nonessential connection, the system of Federal charges and called a suspension of response."

The President's campaign for economy in public service had been declared by the President to be a "constructive" policy, declared of that kind of economy. He expressed the hope that the expenditure of the year about to begin would be a year of economy, within $2,375,000,000 less than the expenditures for the year 1932.

"Keep before you the fact that we are in a position to keep in mind how the enormous expenditures for the year 1932, which this requires."

Where Economy. The President's greater ultimate sometimes he has undertaken new asked that every carefully scrutinized doubt be resolved taxpayer of today the burden of war.

Figures were given for the next fiscal public debt charge $1,315,000,000 and fixed charges, which would be more than will be more than the President's field in which effected is limited to the third of the total of $3,215,000,000.

Effort would be spent said, to hold 1927, exclusive of down to $3,080,000,000 the assembled officers of the government to pay the limit before the President's field in which effected is limited to the third of the total of $3,215,000,000.

Basement Economy StoreWAY HAS BEEN PAVED
FOR ANOTHER REDUCTION
IN TAXES, PRESIDENT SAYSAddressing Government Officials, Coolidge Forecasts Surplus and Admonishes Them to Practice Economy.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, June 23.—Estimating that the end of the current fiscal year (June 30) will find the Federal Government with a Treasury surplus of $200,000,000 and for the fiscal year the surplus will be $224,000,000, President Coolidge,
in a speech here last night,
admonished the way had been paved for a further cut in taxes, and added a pledge that he would recommend a reduction to Congress in his next annual budget message.

The President's optimistic diagnosis of the nation's financial health was given in an address to the business organization of the Government, which comprises the heads of departments and bureau-heads and the other chief spending officers of the Government. Upon the entire Federal personnel the President laid the duty of conducting a campaign of retrenchment economy
in all expenditures for 1926, and in the preparation of estimates for 1927.

"You must not, cannot fail," he said, "in your efforts to reduce the Government's expenditures."
In previous addresses, the President deplored the encroachment of the Federal Government on fields belonging to the states, material reduction of expenses
had been made, he said, if the Federal Government could limit its expenditures to its "legitimate obligations and functions." Even more important than the monetary saving would be the salutary effect upon the fabric of our external policy of government which tends to be gradually weakened and undermined by this encroachment.
The cure for this, the President continued, "is not in our hands. It lies with the people. It comes when they realize the responsibility of the Federal Government. It will come when they realize that the laws under which the Federal Government operates are placing upon them a burden of taxation which is not justified in the first instance to the money which the Government donates to the States, and the taxation in the second instance to meet the extravagance of State expenditures which are not justified by the Federal Government. The theme of the President's address was the necessity of "Construction Economy" to the end that the Federal Government could maintain the 9,000,000 make-Federal tax returns be aided by lightening of tax burden, but a significant indirect effect would be brought through the entire people.
"Restriction on Freedom."
The taking of contributions from people to make up the "enormous" sum of $10,000,000 daily required to operate the Federal Government was declared by the President to be "nothing more or less than a restriction upon the freedom of the people."
"This money has to be earned,"
he emphasized, "and the Government, instead of being able to draw it for its own benefit, must regularly turn it over to the Government."
The President developed his theme with a wealth of epigrammatic sentences—a characteristic of his expression. The aim of his speech was to "Let those who earn it keep more of it for themselves and give less of it to the Government." This means "restoring our country to the people and restoring to the people the privilege of their own money."
Good in Budget System.
In extolling the budget system,
the President pointed out that the Federal Government's annual expenditures amounting to $2,081,000, while $3,426,000,000 had been paid off the public debt. These figures had brought the annual expenditures down to $3,035,000, and the total of the public debt to $2,081,000,000. He doubted whether any other Government could show any equal record of retrenchment.

he summed up, "private business can take more."
Under the policy of "Orderly refunding and generous retirement"
of the war debt, the President said that in the last three years the reduction had amounted to $2,726, 000,000 and that the fiscal year
just ending would probably show a further slash of $700,000,000. The interest for this year would amount to $120,000,000 less than that for 1921. This he characterized as "a direct saving which is plain to everyone."

Soundness of Debt Policy.
Because of the soundness of the debt policy, the President said, the credit of the Treasury had been strengthened, with the result that Liberty bonds had gone above par and the interest which the "Treasury must pay on its new flotations had declined."
"There can be no interruption in this effort for constructive economy in the public business," the President said. "To this we are dedicated. It is an effort to enrich the lives of the people we serve.
There can be no nobler purpose."
The President then served warning that the time was fast approaching when no appreciable reductions in the legitimate cost of government could be expected. He urged that the necessary expansion of the Government's business be accompanied with a weeding-out of nonessential functions. In this connection, he criticized the system of Federal doles to the states and called for a greater assumption of responsibility by the states.

The President asserted that the campaign for economy in the public service had heightened its efficiency. Again he applied the Federal Government's policy to his economy policy, declaring that economy of that kind always bred efficiency. He expressed the hope that the expenditures for the fiscal year about to begin, excluding the postwar service, would be kept within $3,375,000,000, or $125,000, 000 less than the comparable expenditures for the current year.
"Keep before you always," the President adjured his audience,
"the fact that we are not practicing economy for economy's sake,
but for the sole purpose of reducing the tax burden of the people.
Keep in mind how heroically they bore the enormous burden of war taxes. Keep in mind the sacrifices which this required."
Where Economy Is Possible.
The President conceded that greater ultimate economy could sometimes be effected by larger outlays on existing projects or by undertaking new projects, but he asked that every such proposal be carefully scrutinized and that every doubt be resolved "in favor of the taxpayer of today who is carrying the burden of war taxes."
Figures were given to show that for the next fiscal year the fixed public debt charge will be about $1,315,000,000 and that the other fixed charges, which cannot be decreased by administrative action will be more than $900,000,000.
Thus, the President pointed out,
the field in which saving can be effected is limited to about one-third of the total estimated expenditures of $3,375,000,000.

Effort would be made, the President said, to hold the estimates for 1927, exclusive of the postal service, down to $3,080,000,000. He urged the assembled officers of the Government to pare their estimates to the limit before submitting them to the Director of the Budget. While he did not want an under-manned public service, he asked that careful attention be given to preventing any "surplusage" of employees.
Summoning the army of Federal workers to a constant warfare on waste, the President said that in that direction lay the welfare of the country.
"Fidelity to our oath of office,"
he said, "admits of no other course.
Wastrels, careless administrators of the Government's substance, are out of place in the Federal service.
They will not be tolerated."
"If this policy means sacrifice, it is sacrifice for the benefit of 115, 000,000 people. Their interests are paramount. Criticism by a few who are seeking a drastic paring down of spending, has little weight in the scale against the spontaneous commendation of the millions of people who have brought to them with unmitigated clearness
the result of such economy. And,
similarly, the strongly urged desirability of a class should have little weight with you if adverse to the interests of the whole people."
The President closed with a serving of the character of the Wahabi tribesmen, who have been besieging
Jeddah, evacuated their positions
Saturday, without warning or fighting, and are now supposed to be retiring to Mecca. (In January, Ibn Saoud, leader of the Wahabi tribesmen, attacked King Ali of the Hed-jaz and captured Mecca. King Ali fled to Jeddah, where the Wahabis laid siege to his forces.)

THE POLITICAL UNDERTOW
The Game of Politics and the President's VacationWilliam M. Butler Has a Hard Fight Ahead, and in Massachusetts, Mr. Coolidge Will Have a Busy, Interesting Summer.

By CHARLES MICHELSON,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
WASHINGTON, June 23.—Other people go to the seashore, but the sea means nothing to Calvin Coolidge. So little taste has he for it that he sends the secretaries and clerks and White House servants
by the Mayflower while he takes, perhaps, the duller railroad ride between the oceans in midsummer. Stiffness of, and confinement to plush seats and a Pullman berth he is willing to accept in place of ocean breezes and the flashing of waves from on board a yacht with spacious decks and comfortable cabins. It isn't a matter of time. The Mayflower is a speedy vessel and the journey down Chesapeake Bay and up the Atlantic shore is not very long; moreover, nobody is insisting that the Presidential recess shall be limited to a particular period.

Why has Mr. Coolidge chosen Massachusetts for a vacation anyway? The answer, Washington thinks, is William M. Butler.
There is a good deal of Republican gloom over the problem which the chairman of the National Committee will have to succeed himself as the senior Senator from Massachusetts. Butler must fight for his place against ex-Senator Walsh.
Last year Mr. Coolidge carried Massachusetts by close to half a million votes, but Speaker Gillett won over this ex-Senator Walsh by only 18,000 votes. With an Coolidge tidal wave to help, in an off year, how much chance has a suber, heavy business man, with neither liking nor gift for oratory, against the flaming personality and golden tongue of the Democrat who was Governor of Republican Massachusetts almost as often as he was to be and who defeated John W. Weeks in the same election wherein the Republicans wrested
the Senate away from Woodrow Wilson?

So the President is going to spend two months in Massachusetts. It's not too much to say he would ride
the Mayflower all summer long if by so doing he could dispel forebodings over next year's election.
It would be no slight setback to have the President's own campaign manager, in the President's own State, wiff off the political map.
Think of the effect on the morale of the party which may want to run Mr. Coolidge again two years later!

The Bay States do not admit that Mr. Butler's case is wholly deperate. If the President comes again next year when the campaign is at its hottest and business is good
—by which they mean if the textile mills and the shoe factories are running full blast, so that everybody has a job and no time to think of the administration for personal woes—they think Butler may possibly come off the winner.
Incidentally, it is a safe guess that Mr. Coolidge will not have his old back rebolted next year or his shoes half-sole. His dolge so this spring is blamed by manufacturers for the loss of half a million

Calling upon each supervisory official in the spending agencies of the Government to remember his responsibility to the taxpayer, Lord complimented the official on the progress already made in accomplishing saving and in eliminating waste, but quoted the President's statement that there was still too much waste and too great a tax burden on the people.

If earnest intent to conduct Federal operations economically; if honest effort to conserve the taxpayers' money; if determination to reduce Government costs, and at the same time increase Government efficiency, be parsimony and false economy," he added, "then let parsimony be enthroned and false economy be glorified."

The statement was a direct reply to expressions in some quarters that the President's economy program was being carried to an extreme and that it might, in the end, hurt business.
"Analyze it as you may," he went on, "after all of the pros and cons are marshaled, when the last word has been pronounced and the last conclusion reached, there has been a saving of $2,191,232,894 in the cost of Government in the last four years, and that will stand in the record for all time as an example of courageous retrenchment unequaled in the history of the Government."

Lord advised his friends to make no mistake about the intentions of the administration, reiterating that economy must be the slogan. He asserted that the Budget Bureau was "sitting tight on the lid." Scores of incidents were related by Lord to show where savings had been accomplished. He cited the reduction in record personnel
by the Adjutant-General of the Army, who was compelled by curtailed appropriations to reduce a force of clerks from 120 to 42. He said the result had been the creation of a new and simplified record system that was being widely copied for its efficiency.
"There is an example," he emphasized, "of how economy results in efficiency."
He told how a messenger in the Navy Department was saving pins and paper clips from waste baskets and had actually saved more than $200 in the cost of the items. He also related how a United States Consul in Java had saved $40 a year by the elimination of certain electric lights in his office.

would not comment on this connection with utility cases pending
before the Commission, but it was

Commission Porter probably would

volving the Laclede Gas Light Co.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 23.—
Gov. Baker today ordered a commission issued to John H. Porter, Democrat, a consulting engineer in St. Louis, as a member of the State Public Service Commission. He succeeds E. J. Bean of De Soto, Democrat, who resigned, effective
June 15.

Porter's appointment, forecast in the Post-Dispatch last April, is effective June 25, and he will serve until April 15, 1927.
Porter is a son-in-law of J. E.
Allison of the St. Louis engineering firm of J. E. Allison & Co., with offices in the Laclede Gas Light Co. building. Allison and Porter recently have been engaged in property valuation work for the Laclede company, in connection with a pending valuation case before the State Public Service Commission, to establish a valuation for a rate-making base.
Members of the Commission
would not comment on this connection with utility cases pending
before the Commission, but it was stated that under precedents of the Commission Porter probably would be disqualified to sit in hearings
by the Commission on matters involving the Laclede Gas Light Co.

Catholic Church Puts First
Persons Connected With U. S.
History on Roll of MartyrsProfessor of History at St. Louis U. Points to Significance of Their Beatification and Reviews Jesuits' Work.

Eight pioneer missionaries of the Jesuit order in North America, who died nearly three centuries ago at the hands of savages, were beatified by the Roman Catholic Church in St. Peter's Basilica in Rome Sunday. Their appellation of "Blessed," conferred on them as recognized martyrs of the Church, will be worn until the future time—the interval is usually 20 years or longer—when the title of Saint is bestowed.

The Rev. Lawrence J. Kenny, S. J., professor of history in St. Louis University, has written an article emphasizing the fact that these eight are the first persons connected in any direct way with the history of North America who have been thus honored by the Catholic Church.
The article, in abridged form, follows:

By the REV. L. J. KENNY.
SAAC JOQUES and his companions, who have just been placed on the church's official roster of martyrs, and who will be known distinctly as the North American Martyrs, were natives of France, but they lived in America.
No man or woman whose life was passed so near to us has hitherto won the appellation of "Blessed,"
a preliminary to that of Saint.
In the 400 years of the history of America, our country has contributed not a single name to the glorious roll of approved saints.
There is no doubt that the French missionary, St. Francis Solanus, the Franciscan, and St. Peter Claver, the Jesuit, each labored for a time in the republic of Colombia. But north of Latin America, we have had no saint, not even a single "blessed."

"A Central Stalk."
We seem a barren soil. Still as the humble century plant after long years of obscure lowliness suddenly sends up a central stalk high in the air and opens out a veritable candelabra of magnificent blue blossoms, so North America (the United States and Canada) presents a wondrous bouquet of buds. If not yet full blown, the flowers that must arise from the stalk of every beholder and win the admiration of the world. Here at once are eight men of North America listed as blessed:
one day South America is almost not to be seen, and a saint number three, when we count the millions who in four centuries have lived and died on the soil of the United States and Canada.

Father Jogues, Father Rene Goupil and Father John Lalande were slain in what is now New York State; the other five, Fathers Gabriel Lalemant, John de Brebeuf, Anthony Daniel, Noel Chapelle and Charles Giffard, in Canada, just east of Lake Huron.
Their beatification means that in France, in the United States and Canada, and in the churches of the Society of Jesus throughout the world, the names of these men will be set up, statues and pictures of

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in the cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Too Much Park "Economy."
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
FOR the past number of years there has been in operation in St. Louis a municipal association, a medium through which our younger generation can engage in all sorts of athletic, baseball, football, tennis and so forth. However, it is the writer's contention that this same association is not receiving the cooperation from the present administration, as it has from those of former years. As an example, I would but mention one item of vital importance that reflects upon the administration, and that is the lack of attention given at this time to the various ball diamonds throughout the city. The cry is going out that the present administration has deemed it necessary to cut off from the city's payroll those park employees who heretofore looked after the conditioning of these ball fields. I presume this is called a mark of economy and efficiency, yet when it is necessary to strike at such a point as this to gain economy and efficiency, there is something radically wrong.

Also, I would ask from a patron's standpoint, why does this city take from the fans their seats? Is it also another move toward economy and efficiency to cater to the tennis tournament which, while fostered by our citizens, is nevertheless indulged in by players from all parts of the country? In taking these seats, they are causing a great amount of discomfort, not only from a fan's standpoint, but from a player's as well. Last Sunday at Fairground the crowds were so large that the loss of these seats caused the fans to surge out almost onto the playing field, and it was an impossibility for the on-duty police to keep them there to cope with the situation.

In the interests of our young Americans who follow this sport for the love of it and the fans who by their attendance lend this sport the necessary encouragement to make the municipal association what it is today, I am placing this in your columns and trust that those responsible will, by bringing economy and efficiency to play in the spots where it is most needed, remedy the present situation.

Brentwood Traffic Rules.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IN your paper of June 16 reference was made in a letter from "Motorist" regarding his treatment in the town of Brentwood.

This organization has been opposed and will continue to oppose present enforcement of the boulevard stop law in the town of Brentwood. We would appreciate having "Motorist" call at this office as we can obtain his statement, his name and address.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF MISSOURI.

The Married Woman Wage Earner.

NOTICE that the married women who worked for the city in the past are being discharged. Why? Are women slaves or chattels that they are barred from jobs that pay a decent wage? Is marriage a crime? What woman works for mere amusement or exercise? Has she not a soul to tend and a body to protect from the elements? If a man does the thing that pays him best, why can't a woman do likewise? If a woman has a home to look after whose business but her own if she hires a woman to do her work, one who, perhaps, would not otherwise have as good a home to live in and perhaps less wages?

It is economically wrong that any woman who is qualified to hold a job that pays $100 per month should be forced to give up just because she is married. Personally, I think married women are better in private offices than young girls. If there are not enough jobs in St. Louis to go around why does not the Chamber of Commerce stop hiring farmers and others from out of town.

WOMAN WORKER.

An Osteopath's Point of View.

THANK you for the very fine and true statement of facts expressed in your editorial, "Chiropractors in Trouble" in the Post-Dispatch of June 16.

You might even have gone further and said: Since the laws of Missouri already provide for the examination and licensing of those who practice healing by the adjustment of bones, there is no occasion for anybody to seek another law on the subject.

Osteopathy is a complete science of diagnosis and healing whose basic factor is adjustment of bones as stated in the charter of the very first osteopathic college, that of Kirksville, Mo.

Meramec Trust Failure.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
WE have heard and read much about the Night and Day and the Chipewa Bank failures, and the amounts paid back to the depositors, and yet there is a bank that closed its doors a long time before the above mentioned banks; so kindly tell us through your valuable paper what has become of the Meramec Trust Co., as there are hundreds of people anxious to know when we can get part of ours. Have we been forgotten altogether? It has been years since we last heard from them. Thanking you for publishing this letter.

ONE OF THE MANY.

BUSINESS FEARS ECONOMY.

If earnest intent to conduct Federal operations economically; if honest effort to conserve the taxpayers' money; if determination to reduce Government costs and at the same time increase Government efficiency are parsimony and false economy then let parsimony be enthroned and false economy be glorified.

This is the answer of Director Lord of the budget to the fears of vague, unidentified business interests that the administration's insistent demand for economy is likely to hurt business. The American people will indorse this sentiment with a fervent amen. The American people, too, will share Mr. Coolidge's confessed inability to determine how reduction in taxes is injurious to business.

It is obvious, of course, that the more money the Government spends, every cent of which is taken from the people by way of taxes, the less money remains in the channels of trade and industry. One does not have to be a financier to grasp that truth, or its commercial consequences.

That some of the Federal Government's vast expenditures do contribute to the growth of industry and do stimulate activity is undoubtedly a fact. Yet if the Government had never engaged in such enterprises and this same money were administered under the severe requirements of private business instead of the languorous, lavish hand of Government, there can be no doubt as to the result.

Private industry, when honestly operated, functions under the insistent necessity of making every dollar do its full quota of work. No such condition obtains in Government. Government does not have to earn the money it spends. If Government runs into a deficit it merely waves the wand of appropriation and new revenues gush forth. When private enterprise cannot pay its way it goes into bankruptcy. With Government business is something of an adventure. For the individual business is a grim, never-ending battle. Extravagance is the inevitable vice of Government. Extravagance in private industry is fatal.

All this is trite, to be sure, but it surely needs to be said when business interests are quoted as censuring the Government's efforts to reduce expenditures and practice the shining virtue of economy.

Any business that will profit by the Government's wasteful expenditures is properly an object of public suspicion. It might well be a subject of Government inquiry.

SENATOR EDWIN F. LADD.

Fate deals heavily indeed with the progressive cause and with the Northwest when a single day witnesses the burial of La Follette of Wisconsin and the death of Ladd of North Dakota. The little band of insurgents who, holding the balance of power in the last Senate, forced the investigation and resignation of Daugherty and the retirement of Denby, defeated the Mellon plan, and gave the oil investigation its searching character and scope, within a week has lost its leader and one of its ablest members.

The Republican bosses could, and did, read them out of the party, but only death could silence their protest.

Dr. Edwin F. Ladd won political preferment not on the stump but in the laboratory. A chemist of note, he placed his learning at the service of the farmers of North Dakota, and through his work at the State Agricultural College supplied the Non-Partisan League with much of the ammunition which it fired at the powerful millers and elevator barons. Elevation to public office came as a reward for public service.

But his public career was not confined to the service of his own constituents. First as member, and later as chairman, of the Public Lands Committee, he had a valuable part in the Teapot Dome investigation, where his nominal Republicanism did not deter him from rendering full aid and support to the Democratic prosecutor, Senator Walsh. His scholarly recital of Mexican history, and his stirring indictment of the greedy forces which sought intervention in that country, were genuine contributions to statesmanship. In the discussion of agricultural measures, his profound and detailed information was invaluable. Confronted with the charge of radicalism, he more than once confounded his opponents by demonstrating that his own policies were more deeply grounded in study and authoritative knowledge than their own.

North Dakota will be hard put to it to fill his place. Scientific education and the willingness to work, coupled with a genuinely progressive temperament, is a rare combination in American public life.

MISS WEAKLEY'S CRIME.

For the vile crime of violating the dry law, Nettie Weakley of Bloomington, Ill., is dishonored, disgraced and divorced from the work of a lifetime. Miss Weakley is 45 years old and has taught in the schools of McLean County since 1906. Following conviction by a county court jury for selling and possessing liquor, her teacher's certificate has been revoked and Miss Weakley herself awaits sentence.

When the sentence has been passed this middle-aged person, whose life has been one of classroom drudgery, will suffer all the pangs that social ostracism in a small town implies. She will be unable to continue the only honorable work she knows how to do. Only bootlegging will remain, and with it the constant danger of further convictions.

Of course, it is shocking to find a respected teacher in a quiet community engaged in the hooch traffic. But it is no more shocking than many similar disclosures of the corrosive effect prohibition is having on our whole social and political fabric, high and low, upstairs and downstairs, in school and out.

AMERICAN OPERA.

As a musical achievement, an opera, grand or comic, depends chiefly upon its musical form—airs, recitatives, choruses and instrumental accompaniment. The libretto is of secondary importance, in the sense that, if the music fails in its aim, the drama set to that music cannot save it.

In the case of our new American jazz opera, the "Music Robber," its success in Chicago was due to the fact that both music and libretto pleased a critical audience. The theme of the drama being foreign made no difference, because the music—the soul of the opera—was equal to the task of giving life to the drama. But for this essential, the libretto could not have carried the day.

Music is what is wanted. Music we must have in any opera. That granted, why cling to precedent, in the case of operas intended to be truly national, by choosing foreign themes for librettos? For an American opera, why not select American characters and American scenes? Instead of Japanese, Spanish, Hungarian, German or Italian characters, why not dramatize operatically such American characters as Washington, Patrick Henry, Paul Revere, Mollie Pitcher, Betsy Ross, Nathan Hale, Daniel Boone, John Brown, Abraham Lincoln, Ben Franklin, Theodore Roosevelt?

No nation's history is more romantic, more full of thrills, more rich in great characters, more inspiring to the writer or composer, than the history of the nation which, from such small beginnings, in a vast, unknown wilderness, has grown to the present stature of these United States. "What a theme! What a wealth of tragedy and comedy! What soul-stirring events! What a stage! What Titans have played parts on it!"

American opera, soul and body, has an unequalled opportunity to manifest itself and will undoubtedly do so.

WHY MORE PUBLIC FUNDS?

The Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Aldermen has seen fit to approve the Mayor's request for $15,000, to be accounted for by him only in general terms at the end of his term of office. This is in addition to the contingent fund, authorized in the Charter, of $12,500 a year, which, of course, is not to be confused with his salary of $10,000 per annum.

What does the Mayor want the extra $15,000 for? He won't tell, except that he wants to investigate departments, a noble work which, he says, may mean a saving of $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 to the city. This sounds like salesmanship of a high-powered variety, but what is the Board of Aldermen going to tell the taxpayers if the $15,000 investment, "sight-unseen," to win a stake of four or five millions proves a bubble?

What does the Mayor want $15,000 for? If $12,500 a year is not sufficient to enable him to discharge the social obligations of his office and its official duties besides, might it not be met and proper to inquire of him what he wants to do with more money before he gets it? He must know what he wishes to do with it, else why so definite in the amount? Why did he not ask for $10,000 or $20,000?

There are many uses to which $15,000 could be put in the public interest. Recreations in the parks are either to be curtailed or withdrawn from free use. Three important social services not long ago were to be abolished in the mad bluster for economy, and only public protest saved them.

Before he spends this $15,000 to save $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 will the Mayor first exhaust all the resources at his command? Has the Bureau of Municipal Research been forgotten by the Mayor and the Aldermen? This bureau, independent of politics and employing expert investigators, proposed more authentic economies than the Kiel administration ever cared to tackle. The records of all these investigations and recommendations are, no doubt, available, and the bureau, no doubt, can furnish any number of inquiries and recommendations in addition. If, after putting into effect all the economies and reforms recommended by the bureau, the Mayor still weeps for new funds to conquer would it not then be time to consider this addition of $15,000 to his contingent fund?

SENATOR WALSH SPEAKS OUT.

Senator Walsh of Montana finds himself in complete disagreement with Judge Kennedy's decision in the Teapot Dome case, both as to findings of fact and conclusions of law. He seems especially surprised that the Court should hold legal the basic executive order, "the validity of which no member of either house of Congress had the hardihood to defend."

Such is the reaction of the man who knows more about the Teapot Dome case and allied oil scandals than any other. It was Senator Walsh's painstaking and exhaustive study which uncovered the details of the Fall-Sinclair-Doheny deals. It was Senator Walsh who captained the fight against these deals on the floor of the United States Senate.

Anything that Senator Walsh says about Judge Kennedy's decision, therefore, is weighted with authority and buttressed by his unique knowledge of the matter in hand. "The decisions of the higher courts will be awaited with heightened interest," says Senator Walsh, indicating his faith that Judge Kennedy's decision, when reviewed by his judicial superiors, will meet a deserved fate.

The basic executive order to which Senator Walsh refers is the one which transferred the oil reservations from the navy to the Interior Department. This order was declared invalid by Judge McCormick in the Doheny case, and not even flaming partisanship would defend it in Congress. Yet Judge Kennedy upholds it, and builds upon that ruling a vindication of the Teapot Dome transaction.

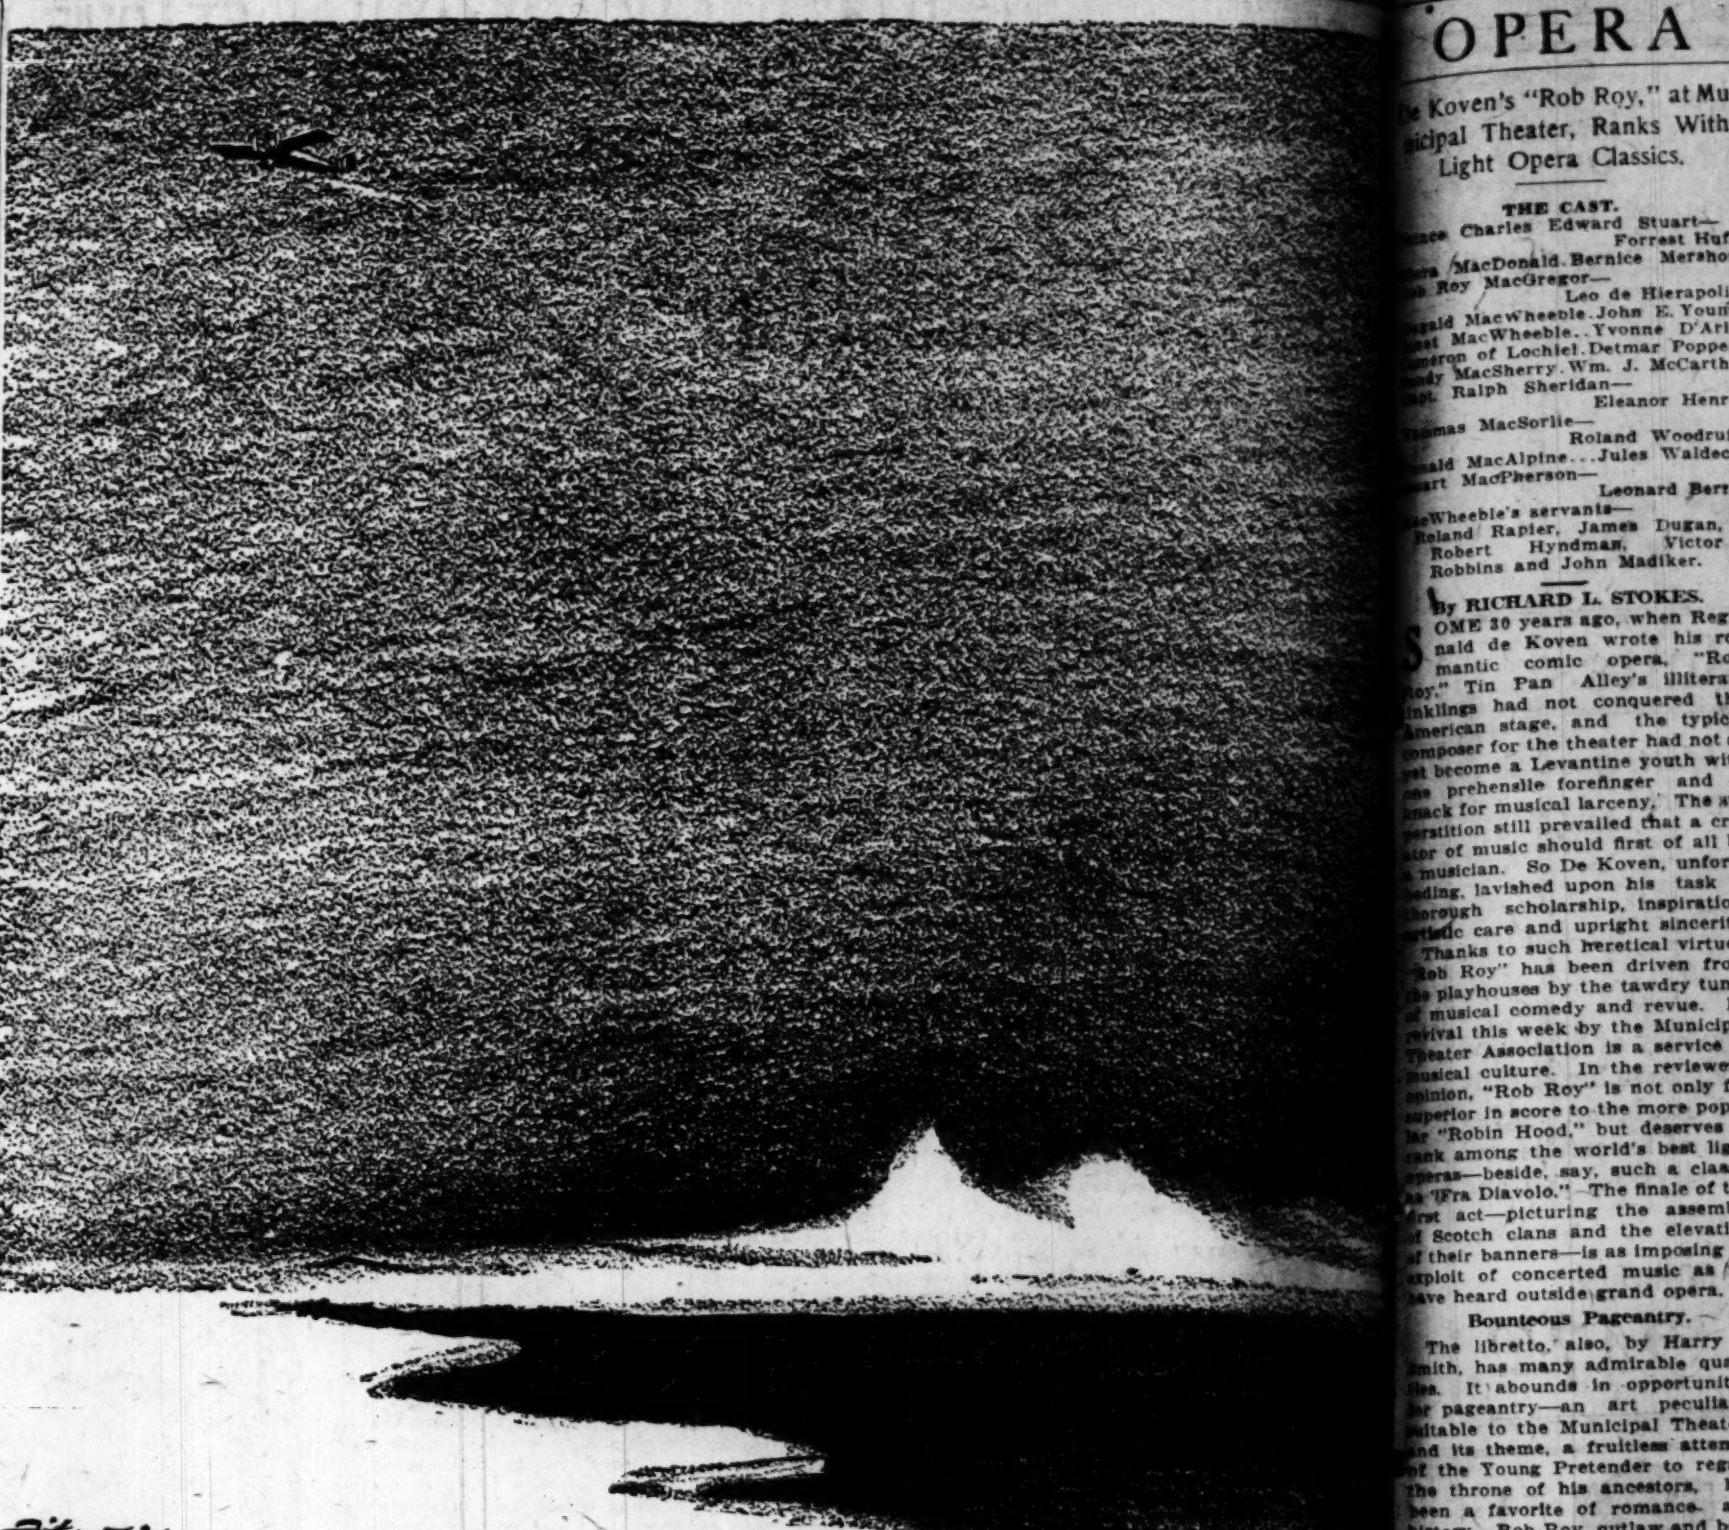

It is seldom that a court decision inspires such wonderment and open antagonism. Senator Walsh's statement is likely to consolidate any sections of public opinion which may have been waiting for an authoritative word.

THE POWERS AND CHINA.

Thomas Millard cables the New York Times from Shanghai that three conditions are probably essential to satisfy the Chinese nationalists and insure stoppage of the antiforeign disorders. These are an agreement for an early conference of the Powers on Chinese questions, the appointment of a time and place and a public declaration by the Powers of a non-aggressive policy.

This is a demand for constructive western action which the United States has special reason to support. We have already given initiative to two policies which could be carried through. At the Washington conference the United States supported a grant to China of 12½ per cent customs revenue that would strengthen the Peking Government against the warring Tutchuns. Other Powers objecting, China got 5 per cent and the promise of more. Washington a fortnight ago let it be known that it expected the new Chinese customs conference to be held this fall; and last week the British Government announced that it is asking for an immediate convocation. The conference is expected to raise duties to at least 7½ per cent and to promise 12½ per cent when certain conditions are met. The sooner it is held and the more authority it is given to consider Chinese financial reorganization the better.

Our other effort at the Washington conference was the nine-Power treaty embodying the nonaggression pledge now asked for, the abolition of foreign post-offices and the release of China from the obligation to keep idle funds in foreign banks. France has not yet ratified, and the treaty is ineffective. Our Government should keep up pressure behind both policies—meanwhile considering the possibility of further action.

THE BULL-HEADED BEE.

I love nature, but I do think it can be overcome. There is so much sympathy for dumb animals along Hunting Ridge that human rights are neglected. Yesterday, for instance, I was stung by a bee and everybody around blamed me. There was much indignation when I killed him, even though I exhibited the bite and pleaded self-defense.

They all said that bees were never known to adopt aggressively hostile action. The theory was that I must have frightened him. Indeed, the community sentiment appeared to be that I had nagged and bullied the insect until he lashed out in righteous anger.

The truth of the matter is that I didn't do a thing to that bee up to the time I killed him. No honest witness can testify that there were sounds of an altercation before the blow was struck.

At the time of his attack I was sitting on a rock very quietly engaged in fishing. The bee persisted in bumping into me. Round about were acres and acres of land unoccupied by man or beast. Within 20 yards there lay a large field of clover. It is true that the bee seemed to be flying in that direction, but he could hardly have asserted with any justice that I had him completely stymied from his destination.

It would have been a simple matter for him to have flown around me or over my head. As far as I know, there is nothing in tradition of bees which compels them invariably to fly in a straight line. It's crows who are committed to keeping faith with Euclid. And as a matter of fact, even crows do turn heretical and circle around at times.

But this bee was bull-headed and nothing would do him except to fly straight through me, since I bisected the straight line which he planned to follow. I don't know whether he thought I would eventually part like the Red Sea or whether he purposed tunneling, but three times he flew bang against the upper right-hand side of my chest.

Not until after the third collision did I speak to him at all, and then it was in the mildest sort of way which should not have caused him either anger or fear.

What I said was, "If I were you I wouldn't do that any more."

And at that he flew into a terrific rage of panic and stung me. Upon that instant, I confess, a primitive instinct overpowered me. I am not going to pretend that I didn't know my own strength or that I merely tried to wound him. I sprang to kill and under the same circumstances I would do it again. A bee is all right as long as he behaves himself and I hope the issue will not rise again.

In order to avoid confusion in future I shall have my chest tattooed in large and legible letters reading, "No thoroughfare."

HETWOOD BROWN.

Sir: Without overlooking much less belittling, the high idealism of the various recent pronouncements by President Calles of Mexico, may I advert to the delightful pliancy of their slightly unidiomatic English? It is impossible to pick out actual instances that capture the flavor of the thing as a whole, but it undeniably has a flavor. It raises the whole question of the subtle inter-relation of thought and language of content and form. When "style" tends to become a barrier, instead of a means, to communication, it is time for the Mexican Government to hire a thoroughly competent translator.

CHAPTER 10, 458.

After my second quart of whisky that morning, my head began to feel a little better, and I suddenly remembered I had forgotten engagements to speak in Chicago, San Francisco and Walla Walla. This frightened me because I knew it would disappoint the friends that had been so good to me. There was nothing to do but take a drink. I went into One-Eyed Joe's place and drank 14 gin rickys, an even dozen cocktails and a demijohn of beer. This made me feel a little shaky, and as I started home the streets were filled with the most startling creatures—little men four feet high with long white whiskers, pink monkey, enormous spiders and giraffes. The perspiration stood upon my brow, for I knew that my delirium tremens had returned. I had read somewhere (for I am a very cultured man who has read nearly everything) that the only thing to do was to take a drink. So I bought a quart of whisky and took it to my room. When I woke up Mabel was standing there. I felt ashamed of my disheveled appearance, and I knew I must buck up. So I sent Mabel down for a quart of whisky, which I drained. Feeling a bit better, I asked Mabel how she had been. She began telling me her life story, one of the most amazing ones I have ever heard lately. As she began talking I was four feet away, but I soon was sitting with my arm around her waist. So I took a drink.

I was continued tomorrow and indefinitely thereafter.)

Sir: Why is it more important to reconcile evolution with the Bible than with the Koran or the Vedas or any other "sacred" books? Ex-President Taft tells an illuminating story of his old biology professor at Yale. When asked how he reconciled evolution and the Bible the Professor replied: "I don't have to reconcile them." Isn't this the answer?

We are too small,

THE FOURTH AMENDMENT.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.

Every citizen who lives his life in the jurisdiction of the Federal Judiciary, the District of Maryland has the right to a feeling of deep relief. For the Federal Constitution which has been overlooked only too often in these Virginia days. From the limbo of things forgotten in the country at large, Judge Soper has brought forth the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and applied it strictly and impartially in the case of a man arrested without warrant. The Fourth Amendment, which is an integral part of the Bill of Rights, guarantees the citizen right to be secure in his person, house, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures. No Federal officer, from the District down, would have dared ignore it. That was before the Anti-Saloon League took charge of the Government. Since that event came to pass the Fourth Amendment as a matter of practice if not of theory, has been more honored in the breach than in the observance. What guarantees the citizen might have against other invasions, he had no guarantee against the prohibition agents' provocations, and search his house and his effects without the semblance of justification. And, now that the Fourth Amendment is definitely established as part of the fundamental law in the Maryland district, judges in other parts of the country may even discover the First Amendment, the Second, the Fifth, the Sixth, the Seventh, the Eighth, the Ninth and the Tenth.

THAT ARCTIC CONTINENT.

From the New York Post.

CROSS-WORD and jig saw puzzles are the geographer take in ice-bound as well as war-torn territory. There is a host of the books going on between Ottawa and Washington, centering about the issue of possession of a new Arctic continent, and posing that there is one, and assuming that MacMillan discovers it. The historic coast of Canada largely rests on such speculative imperial generalities as those which Spanish Kings of old wrote into their titles, and their reached clear across the Western Hemisphere to grasp not merely what they had seen and heard of, but all that a romantic imagination might conceive in the way of an El Dorado beyond the charmed boundaries. No half-way measure would the conquistadores and their royal masters claim all that there was and then fight with anyone who disputed the claim. To be monarch of all one conjectures is more gratifying to an imperialist than to be monarch of all one surveys.

MARTIAL LAW IN SUBURBS OF SHANGHAI

Proclamation Forbids Public Meetings and Provides for Censoring of Letters.

By the Associated Press. SHANGHAI, June 23.—Martial law has been proclaimed in the suburbs of Shanghai by Gen. Chang Hsueh Liang, son of Gen. Chang Tao Lin, the Manchurian war lord. Before proclaiming martial law, Gen. Chang Hsueh Liang is said to have left Shanghai "rapidly and secretly." No explanation of his reported departure has been made. Gen. Chang's proclamation forbids public meetings, the issuance of propaganda pamphlets and cartoons, and provides for the confiscation of unauthorized arms and ammunition, the censoring of letters and telegrams and the inspection of incoming and outgoing vessels.

PERSONS IN U. S. HISTORY PUT ON ROLL OF MARTYRS

he could do no more for the Huron captives. He had comforted these and baptized 70 of their number. But now a date was set for his death, and he determined to fly. The Dutch of Albany, and notably their minister, Dominie Megapolensis, deserve immortal commendation for the generosity they showed the escaping captive. The minister accompanied Father Jogues down the Hudson to New Amsterdam, where Gov. Kieft entertained them both at dinner.

Let us omit Jogues' trip over the Atlantic. His glorious welcome at home, how he was called to the court, where the Queen knelt to the wounded hands, how Pope Urban VIII, who was the most severe of all the Popes in forbidding us to call people saints or martyrs prematurely, forgot himself and spoke of Jogues as a martyr of Christ, and gave him permission to say mass, despite the fact that the condition of his hands would make this unlawful according to the canons.

Returned to Canada.
Jogues fled from these honors more swiftly than from captivity. He returned to Canada. When he arrived the Iroquois were suing for peace with the Hurons and with the French. Jogues, who knew the language, went to confirm the league of peace. He was successful. He went up to Quebec and reported the success of his mission of peace, and at once started back to the Mohawks. He knew their fickleness, and said: "I am going whence I shall never return alive." John Lalonde went with him, and although all arguments were used on him to withhold him from so impending a danger, he replied that he could offer his life if Jogues could do so in so good a cause.

One party of the Mohawks had already determined to kill the priest; they claimed he brought curses upon their crops. They captured him and Lalonde, and put them to the torture. They cut slices of flesh from their living bodies for food. On Oct. 18, 1646, one of this group stealthily struck Jogues with a tomahawk on the head a blow which cleft the skull. The following morning they slew Lalonde. The man who struck the fatal blow was captured later by the Hurons, who prepared to burn him at the stake. Fr. Breuef interceded long enough to instruct the man in the faith and to baptize him. He named him Isaac Jogues. Even in the flames this convert was joyful over his new-found faith. The International Encyclopedia tells us (article: Iroquois) that the largest band of American aborigines north of Mexico settled in one spot are the Catholic Iroquois tribe at Caughnawaga, near Montreal, Canada. The spirit of Jogues has protected them.

LACLEDE GAS RATE APPLICATION HEARD

Company Proposes Issue of $3,000,000 to Provide Funds for Improvements.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, June 23.—
An application of the Laclede Gas Light Co., of St. Louis for authority to issue and sell $3,000,000 in six per cent long time notes, to provide funds for improvements in its gas manufacturing and distribution system in St. Louis is being heard today before the State Public Service Commission.

The Laclede company asked for continuances on two other applications pending before the commission. One of these applications involves the proposed sale by the Laclede of its electric generating plant and downtown electrical distribution system to the Phoenix Light, Heat and Power Co., a Laclede subsidiary which now operates the electrical distribution system of the parent company.

The other application is for authority to issue bonds to reimburse the Laclede treasury for $1,359,- 908, expended from earnings over-a period of several years for improvements. The company states these improvements properly are a capital charge, and that, under the law, it is entitled to reimburse the treasury for such expenditures from earnings.

When the Laclede first filed the three applications last October, it sought authority to sell $3,000,000
in common stock to finance the improvements. Today it asked permission to amend the petition and issue notes instead. The notes would draw 6 per cent interest for a period of not less than 20 years, be subject to call at not more than 104 and be sold at not less than 94.

Representatives of the company stated improvements now under way, including installation of five additional gas-producer machines, new mains, a new 2,000,000 cubic foot capacity gas holder and other plant additions, would involve expenditures of $3,000,000 in 1925 and 1926. This work is part of a five-year program of expansion, it was stated.

Dolly Madison

Dorothea Todd Madison first became known as the Hostess at Thomas Jefferson's state dinners—later, first lady of the land as wife of President Madison.

"Dolly, you pretty minx," said Martha Washington when she heard of Dorothea Todd's engagement to James Madison, "make this bachelor more popular—make him better known."

The most famous hostess of her day followed those instructions so cleverly that her husband became the fourth President of the United States.

The clever hostess of today has no retinue of slaves to help prepare for guests. Nor does she need them.

For long ago, women were freed from the task of baking bread—and now they have HOSTESS CAKE, a rich, delightful confection.

HOSTESS CAKE is always light and delicious. It is a compliment to guests to serve this unusual cake, which is made with the same care you would use in your own kitchen.

But wives and mothers don't wait for special occasions to serve this treat. They add to the delight of lunch and dinner at home—serve HOSTESS CAKE every day.
And when young appetites call for sweets, mothers serve HOSTESS CAKE—far better for them than candy.

Try a HOSTESS CAKE today and you will

Only one juvenile activity for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Free Ice for Babies' Milk Fund was reported over the week-end. This was a lemonade sale conducted in the 5600 block of Waterman avenue by Gilbert Balkin, Bernice Price and Jane and Muriel Wise. It added $2 to the Ice Fund. Four cash donations amounting to $46 completed the additions to the fund since the last acknowledgment. Mrs. Henry Hitchcock, 54 Vandeventer place, sent $25; $10 was received from Esther Lampert Graff, "in memory of Jacob Lampert," her uncle; $10 was forwarded by the St. Louis Independent Packing Co., Tiffany and Chouteau avenues; and $1 was donated by Jacob Ruwert, 6069A Shulte avenue. The Ice Fund now totals $1257.48, which lacks $742.52 of the $2000 needed for the current month's bills, and is $524.52 short of the minimum fund required by the season's budget.

PIRATES SHOW REAL PENNANT PUNCH IN MAULING CARDINALS

Rhem and Stuart Yield 24 Runs, Making 45 in Two Days for Pittsburg

Visitors Score 18 Runs in Two Innings Off Hornsby's Hurlers, Including 6 Homers, Two With the Bases Full—McKechnie's Team Has Great Chance for Flag.

The first game of the doubleheader between the Cardinals and Pittsburg Pirates, scheduled for this afternoon, was called off at noon because of wet grounds. If the grounds dry sufficiently, one game will be played at 2:15 o'clock. A double-header will be played tomorrow.

By Herman Wecke.

A club possessing a terrific batting punch, a sound defense and a good pitching staff. That, in brief, is a description of the present-day Pittsburg Pirates, the team that is giving the Giants a run for honors in the National League. In fact, in the showing in the first local game with the Cardinals, the Pittsburg aggregation looks like a better ball club than the one Jennings is chaperoning around the circuit for McGraw.

The Corsairs exhibited their heavy punch against Rhem and Johnny Stuart in annihilating the Cardinals in the series opener. The defense was sound. What the pitching did not have to be first-class. But with Yde, Meadows, Morrison, Aldridge, Kremer, Adams and others on the staff, the team will get plenty of support from the hurlers.

The team owns a punch all the way down to the pitcher. Max Carey, lead-off man, is a 300-hitter and awaits from either side of the plate. Eddie Moore, at second, has hit safely in 21 consecutive games. Hazen Cuyler, the sensation of 1924, is coming back strong. Clyde Barnhart has showed so fast a man as Carson Bigbee to the bench. Traylor, Wright, Grantham and Smith follow. All can swing lustily. It's not a pleasing task for a pitcher to face that aggregation of pill-punchers.

Pirate Outfield Unsurpassed. In Carey, Cuyler and Barnhart, the Pirates own just about the best outfield in the National League. Carey, though a veteran, is one of the leading center fielders in the league. Wright and Traylor are among the leaders in their positions, while Moore at second and Grantham at first are improving. Then Bill McKechnie also has Stuffy McInnis for duty at the infield sack.

That's the ball club that will have to be beaten to win the National League pennant this season. It is the opinion of members of the Cardinals. And those Corsairs in their last two games have established something of a record in that they have scored 45 runs and connected for 46 safeties in their last two games. They counted 21 times in drubbing Brooklyn Saturday and came back with 24 against the Cardinals.

In the two battles 46 hits have been made. Record books do not show the Cardinals scored 15 runs in two days; but not even the oldest inhabitant can remember anything of the likes of 45 tallies in two clashes being scored by one team.

18 Runs in Two Innings. In punning Rhem and Stuart, the Corsairs had two big innings. There was the first when the old ball game was sewed up tight. In this round, 12 enemy batters went to the plate and eight scored. In the eighth 15 scored and 10 counted. It's seldom that a club has two sprees of the kind in the same tilt.

That was not all. The Pirates made six home runs, two in the first half. Grantham got one of these off Rhem in the first, while Traylor potted the other against Stuart in the fifth. Rhem hit another circuit drive in the fourth, while Cuyler, Barnhart and E. Smith grabbed one each.

Then there was the performance of the veteran Max Carey. In two innings, the first and the eighth, Carey went up twice and scored three runs. That without a doubt comes close to being a record.

Cardinal Defense Falls. While all this was going on the Cardinal defense collapsed. The same team which went through six games the week before with only three errors, committed seven and eight in this number came in that horrible eighth inning. Then the pitchers, who in the previous six battles had been scored upon but two times, went up twice and gave one game. All of which proves the uncertainty of the great national pastime.

With his team in the running for the pennant, Bill McKechnie is taking no chances with his pitchers. Vic Aldridge, the former Cub, started on the hill. In the third, he was being battered hard and although the Pirates had a lead of six runs at the time, McKechnie derided him in favor of Kremer, who finished out the battle. These two hill men were found for 14 hits, but what did that mean with 24 markers?

The 25 hits made were good for a total of 66 bases. In addition to 15 singles, there were six doubles, two triples and eight home runs. With the eight circuit drives, the season's total in 58 games played by the Browns and Cardinals at

Hennessey and Casey Win Again At Wimbledon

Americans Advance at Expense of British Net Stars.

By the Associated Press. WIMBLEDON, June 23.—Americans continued to do well in the All-England tennis championships today, both Ray Casey of San Francisco and John Hennessey of Indianapolis, the young stars who are expected to go far in the tournament, advancing to third round.

Casey defeated E. T. Hollis of England, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4, and Hennessey beat N. Dicka of England, 8-6, 6-3, 6-4. Lucien Segallier, former U. S. collegiate champion, also won his match.

In the match between Williams and Sir G. A. Thomas, the Chicago man played an airtight game and smothered the titled Thomas in one of the easiest victories over the tournament.

There seemed to be an exchange of form between the two young Americans today, however, and it was Casey who played in tiptop tournament style and Hennessey who had to struggle with his strokes.

Casey's service was in top form, and the Californian played an almost errorless game, defeating Hollis in straight sets. The critics now count Casey a dangerous contender for semifinals honors.

In the women's singles the only American hope against the French star, Lengden, Miss Elizabeth Ryan, encountered a difficult opponent in Miss J. E. Brown, but she succeeded in winning, 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Ryan will meet Miss Lengden later in the week. L. B. Rice of Boston defeated D. J. R. Summer, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1. H. J. Demophoro, the Italian, who holds the German tennis title, beat A. N. W. Dudley of England, 6-0, 6-2, 6-2.

Hennessey gave an erratic showing in defeating Dicka, who is a British player. The American warmed up slowly and gave no great promise during the opening games. The first set went to deuce. However, Hennessey's forehead showed up to better advantage during his first day at Wimbledon, and a number of his backhand drives puzzled his opponent. Hennessey, who gives promise of becoming a favorite with the Wimbledon experts, was generously applauded after his victory.

Rene LaCoste defeated M. V. Summeron of England, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5.

R. Gilbert defeated M. Ferrier of Switzerland, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1. Miss Joan Fry, the youthful English star, beat Mrs. R. C. Middleton, 6-3, 6-2.

Charles S. Garland of New York defeated C. G. Eames, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Louis B. Dalley Jr. of East Orange, N. J., defeated W. H. Atkin, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

In the women's division, Miss Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian, defeated Miss J. E. Brown of England, 6-3, 6-4.

Mme. Billout of France defeated Miss Lycett of England 4-6, 6-3, 11-9.

WRAV'S COLUMN

Boy, Page a Doctor.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing to inquire what's the matter with sports in the Western District A. A. U. in general and in St. Louis in particular, pours salt into an open wound. He refers to the fact that 20 years ago St. Louis was seething with activity, and marathon races, district track meets, swimming championships, water polo championships, amateur boxing championships, cross-country running and motor boat racing were among the active pastimes of annual recreation.

Today of all these we have surviving only amateur boxing—and that, tainted with the odor of the early century, the Burkett and Keeler of the late '90s and the Ansons, Tip O'Neils, Bruethers and Combses of still earlier periods just don't measure up.

Tyrus did—still does—everything they did, and does it better, and under more exacting conditions.

They talked of erecting a monument to baseball. If they do and want to symbolize what has been nearest perfection in baseball playing within human limitations, the monument should be modeled after Ty Cobb.

Only one bout, the Dempsey-Firpo affair, netted any real money. The rest were losses. The real reason is not the part of the A. A. U. officials. There is only one big reason:

The passing of the Missouri A. A. U. and the other clubs, the Triple A. and other clubs, are the promoters of competitive events.

When the Missouri A. A. U. became a Hall of Health for dining room athletes, amateur athletics collapsed, taking down with it the lesser clubs.

The Greatest Ever.

STILL the question is asked: "Who is the greatest ball-player of all time?" Just as if we were not with us, still achieving, still pursuing, in spite of the approach of middle age, a player who is playing his twenty-first campaign, who has a lifetime baseball hitting average of .353, who is still fighting at the top for leading title of the world, who in the past has held leadership many times both as hitter, base stealer and fielder, and a player whose every move is an inspiration of genius.

Meet Mr. TY COBB.

Beside Tyrus, the records of our best players today pale; and the performances of the Titans of other decades are merely good. The Wagners and Lajoies of the early century, the Burkett and Keeler of the late '90s and the Ansons, Tip O'Neils, Bruethers and Combses of still earlier periods just don't measure up.

Sisler's Hopes Mount as Bush Checks Mackmen

"Pitching Like That Will Soon Put Us in the Race," Browns' Manager Says.

Mack Is Set Back.

ST. Daring "Jump" at 3-Mile Mark Helps Navy Crew Beat Huskies

Washington Varsity Closes Fast on Middies, Who Finish by Margin of Only Three-Fourths of a Boat Length— "Outsiders" Dominate Poughkeepsie Classic.

By the Associated Press.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 23.—Eight boat-lacked, heavy midshipmen from the U. S. Naval Academy brought the Varsity racing championship back east on the Hudson, last evening, by conquering Washington, two-time champions, in a thrilling, spectacular four-mile duel; but at the finish they were only three-quarters of a boat length ahead and losing distance with every stroke.

Washington's transcontinental quest for a third straight triumph—something that no crew has gained on the Hudson since Cornell did it, in 1912—ended in failure, but rusty Calleg's huskies lost little prestige. They had the power, the drive and strokes to match those of the Navy, but they lost because they were outmaneuvered, outguessed at the critical stage of the race.

Strategy Wins for Navy. The Navy owes its brilliant triumph, in the final analysis, more to superior strategy than anything else. It was the sudden spurt of the sailors, an expected and daring dash at the three-mile mark that won the race for them. The mid-dies jumped into a lead of a length and a quarter before Washington realized what was up, a margin which saved the day for the Admirals.

This sudden drive took most of the wind out of the Navy's sails, but the momentum was enough to carry it on to victory in spite of Washington's closing rally. The final bid of the huskies to retain the title was beautiful to see, but it was an epilogue. Had there been another 100 yards, another story might have been told.

The victory put the Navy one up on Washington in the battles these rivals have held in the past two years. They had met twice before, the midshipmen twice to triumph in 1922, but losing in 1923 to the far Westerners. Annapolis was not represented last year, when Washington won again.

Rivals' Records Close. In their last four starts the Navy has finished 1-1-2-1 in the varsity classic, while Washington, in as many tries for premier honors, has landed 2-1-1-2.

Thus the "outsiders" crews participating in the regatta by invitation continue their domination of the "Big Four" on the Intercollegiate Rowing Association. To rub it in a trifle, Wisconsin, finished in third place today, after finishing second a year ago. The West has no apology to offer here.

Behind the Badgers came Pennsylvania, Cornell, Syracuse and Columbia in order. Except for the Quakers, who were themselves out trying to keep pace with Washington and the Navy for the first mile, and a half, none of the other eastern crews menaced the pace setters. From the start to finish it was a personal matter between the Huskies and sailors. There was so much open water between them and the rest of the field at the halfway mark that it looked as though the race was being run in two sections to avoid overcrowding. It appeared that Washington and the Navy were out to beat the

INQUIRY INTO RAIDS
BY PRIVATE CITIZENS

Judge's Charge to Grand Jury
at Jefferson City Directed at Heber Nations.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 23.—An investigation by the Cole County grand jury into liquor raids conducted in and near Jefferson City by county officers with the assistance of private citizens, who are not officers, was directed by Circuit Judge Westhues here late yesterday in his charge to the first grand jury convened in the county in two years.

Judge Westhues mentioned no names, but the charge is understood to be directed at the extensive raiding activities of Heber Nations, former Labor Commissioner and reputed leader of the local Ku Klux Klan. Nations was convicted on May 29 last, in Federal Court in St. Louis, on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead law and sentenced to 18 months in Federal prison and to pay a fine of $2333. The conviction was on a charge of participation in a plot to protect the manufacture of beer in the Grissledick Brewery in St. Louis. Nations appealed and was released on bond pending disposition of his appeal.

Nations' Raiding Activity.
Following indictment of Nations on May 6, 1924, he became quite active here in liquor raids and is said to have participated in approximately 100 raids in Cole County, prior to his trial and conviction in Federal Court. He usually made these raids in company with Sheriff Withaup of Cole County and two of Withaup's deputies, the raiding party being familiarly known as the "four horsemen." Withaup was indicted by the Ku Klux Klan for Sheriff in the last election. In addition to Nations another reputed officer of the local Klan has been a participant in many of the raids.

When Nations returned to Jefferson City under bond, following his conviction he again began participating in raiding parties, but this course aroused considerable criticism and resulted in Nations dropping the role of raider.

In his charge to the jury Judge Westhues stated that he had called to the attention of the court that raids have been made by certain officers of this county who have enlisted the aid of private citizens who are not officers, and who have aided in these raids or searches under search warrants.

"Little Overcaution."
"No reflection is meant by this upon any officer. It is due probably to a little overcaution. However, it does not leave a good taste in the mouth of the average citizen to see private citizens, not clothed with official authority and not under oath, do this work, and it should not be done. This work should be left to the proper officers and their duly appointed deputies."

He instructed the grand jury to consult the prosecuting attorney with reference to the law pertaining to such aids and advised the grand jury that it could make any recommendations it desired upon the subject.

BOAT IN SERVICE 124 YEARS

SOUTHAMPTON, June 5.—The little ketch, Bee, built 124 years ago and still in service between Southampton and Newport on the Isle of Wight, completed recently her 28,000th crossing of the Solent Channel. The Bee began her sea duty in 1801 and is one of the very few ships remaining from whose decks men witnessed a British naval victory at sea with Nelson on board. During one period of her career she was commanded for 48 years by the same captain. The Bee has been on the Isle of Wight run virtually all of her existence up to the present time and, according to members of her loyal crew, she is good for many years yet to come. The distance between Newport and Southampton is 18 miles. Three younger sister ships of the Bee have been plying the same route for approximately 50 years.

Thomas says that of this amount $140,000 remains of the old appropriation and that he has obtained an additional appropriation for road improvement on State aid highways amounting to $499,000.

TOKIO MAN, ONCE WEALTHY, FISHES IN CANALS FOR JUNK

Impoverished by Earthquake, He Searches in Mud for Articles Dropped by Fire Refugees.
Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1923.
TOKIO, June 2.—Before the earthquake of 1923 he was a wealthy man with a home in Honjo, a motor car and friends. Now he is making a living by fishing in the mud of Tokyo's canals for junk which he sells to get himself food. Inquisitive people who go across the Sumida River to that part of Tokyo which has least recovered from the earthquake may see the unfortunate wading through one of Honjo's or Fukagawa's numerous canals, with a basket slung on one hip and a short staff in his hand. Millions of yen worth of various articles were lost in the canals during the days of the earthquake holocaust in 1923 by persons who used them as an avenue of escape. As most of the canals are tidal-water channels, when the tide is low it is possible to see some of the larger objects. This man lost wife and children, father and mother, home and all in the disaster. People think that his mind is unbalanced. He spends the daylight hours slowly walking through the canals at low tide digging up this and that. Every now and then he strikes on something which can be sold for a few sen.

Occasionally he has found a purse or a pocketbook with money in it. He recognizes no one. He lives in a miserable hut on the bank of one of the canals. A handful of rice and a piece or two of "daikon" (pickled radish) constitute a meal.

STANDARD OIL TO BUY SHARES
IN BIG RUMANIAN COMPANY

Subsidiary Reaches Agreement With Concern Benefited by 1924 Rumanian Mining Law.
By the Associated Press.
BUCHAREST, June 23.—The newspapers assert that an agreement has been reached by which the Standard Oil Co.'s Rumanian subsidiary, Romano Americana, will purchase a large block of the shares of the Society Creditul Minier. This is the largest purely Rumanian oil company and the principal beneficiary under last year's mining law, which limited state oil land concessions to nationalized companies.

The Romano Americana has rejected all suggestions for nationalization and even threatened to quit Rumania entirely unless the Government adopted a more benevolent attitude toward foreign companies. The agreement now reported to have been reached presupposes a close working arrangement between the Creditul Minier and the Standard Oil Co.

E. M. House Meets Baldwin.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 23.—The visit here of E. M. House, confidential adviser of the late President Wilson, is attracting the attention of the political paragraphs of the London newspapers. House met Premier Baldwin and Foreign Secretary Chamberlain at the House of Commons yesterday. The Daily Mail asserts that House upon his return to Washington will report to President Coolidge the results of his interviews with the various European capitals. The paper also quotes the visitor as saying he believed it essential for the United States to enter the League of Nations. Only 20 per cent of Americans had any interest in European affairs, he said, but three-fourths of these would favor America's entry into the League.

SUBWAY, ELEVATED LINES PROPOSED

Five Intermediate Stations for Underground Service Suggested—Would Finance Plan With Bonds.

Suggestions for a proposed $100,000,000 rapid transit system of subway, elevated and surface lines, including the erection of five intermediate subway stations, were made today at a conference of Smith of the Special Rapid Transit Committee of the Board of Aldermen with President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service and C.
Smith, city consulting engineer.
The suggestions result from an authorized survey by Kinsey and Smith of rapid transit possibilities in St. Louis. If the people vote bonds for a system, work could be started by 1927, Smith said, and, when completed, the city could lease the properties to an operating company, the bonds being redeemed gradually by the city's income.

Subway Car Stations.
Smith suggested subway cars be operated between the congested downtown district and intermediate stations at Taylor avenue and the Suburban tracks, O'Fallon Park, Vanderbent and Chouteau avenues, Grand boulevard and Gravois avenue or Meramec street, and to the Maple avenue and barns. The present surface lines, or new elevated lines, could pick up passengers at these stations, and complete their transportation, he said.
Savings in time resulting from the faster transportation would be enormous, Smith said, and would make a trip between downtown and the Taylor avenue station would require only 10 minutes during the rush hours, instead of 30 minutes at present.

Data Submitted.
Data assembled by Kinsey and Smith in their survey to date shows that 25 per cent of street car traffic in rush hours is handled by the five street, Boulevard and Welcome lines. These lines would fit well with the Taylor avenue station scheme, as they are no more than three-fourths of a mile apart.

Taylor, diverging more farther west. The other proposed stations are in important centers and are adjacent to several surface car lines. The one at the Maple avenue car barns would take care of suburban passengers.
The matter of roadway lines on Olive and Market streets and Washington boulevard between Nineteenth street and downtown also was discussed. These subways would cost $25,000,000 to $30,000,000, Smith estimated, and,
with the other projects, would bring the system's total cost to $100,000,000.

North and South Highway.
Asked by Chairman Wimer of the Aldermanic committee, Smith proposed a highway about 250 feet west of Grand boulevard, between North and South St. Louis, Smith said he favored it as necessary.
This traffic artery would take in portions of Spring avenue and less-son congestion on Grand.

The project of "dipping" Grand boulevard street cars between Market and North Market streets was discussed. Construction of a subway for these two miles would cost $8,000,000, Smith figured.
President Kinsey was asked if the present Eighth-street railroad tunnel would fit into the subway plans. He replied that it would not be of much value as a subway, Smith said, consideration has been given to uniting in the subway system cars now operating over the Eads and McKinley bridges, but said this is relatively unimportant, as these cars carry few passengers in comparison with the 100,000 an hour transported in the downtown district in rush period.

A suggestion made some time ago that a downtown station be established for suburban railroad trains did not meet with Smith's approval when mentioned today.
He said they had not proved a success where already established.
A better plan in St. Louis, he thought, would be to locate a station around Vandeventer avenue, the passengers to be transported to and from the central downtown district by other means than railroad.
The question of seats for passengers on the present street cars was discussed, Smith saying more seats were wider, as in Bombay, India, and Kinsey remarking that
